For county's sophomore students

BIE Day slated Thursday

BY SANDY FOSSON

Sophomores from both Miami Trace and Washington Senior high schools will be taking an active part in the annual Business Industry Education Day to be held Thursday in the Mahan Building on the Fayette County Fairgrounds.

The students, who have chosen three vocations of their highest interest, will be meeting in small seminars with authorities in those fields to discuss job opportunities, salary range, job descriptions and profits in order to receive more insight into the various opportunities available in the area job market.

According to Mike Barker, chairman of this year's career day project, which is sponsored by the Washington C. H. Area Chamber of Commerce and local merchants, the program is established to make high school students more knowledgeable of the various vocations they may follow for careers.

"Before, the program was geared strictly toward the professional fields; this year, we're trying to steer away from the traditional college preparatory courses and concentrate more on the three categories of skilled, unskilled and professional," Barker said.

Don Bailey, who provided much of the brainwork for this year's program, said the Chamber of Commerce has added something extra to make the BIE day more interesting to the students.

"We will award five very nice gifts to five students from each school in the morning and afternoon sessions and a stereo set to a teacher or counselor from each school," Bailey said. Area merchants have donated the gifts for the drawings, he added.

"Many of the students don't know what they want to do so that is why we sponsor the program for sophomores, giving them plenty of time to change their schedules," Barker said.

Both men added that due to the present job situation around the state, the program will be helpful in providing realistic information on salary expectancies, training, education and experience required for various positions.

The high school students will be meeting with members of the business community during a two-hour session at the Mahan Building with Miami Trace students attending from 8:45 until 10:45 a.m. and Washington Senior High School students taking part from 1 until 3 p.m.

At the end of their perspective sessions, the students are asked to complete and submit critiques of the panelists so the Chamber of Commerce may analyze the program from not only the business attitude but also the students' reactions to the sessions.

Participating in Thursday's career day program from the various vocations will be:

Farming — Elton Rhoad and Jim Hobbs; Waitress — Ray Loudner of the Terrace Lounge; Clerks — Jerry Coffey of Seaway, Inc.; Carpentry — Bill Williams of Great Oaks Construction Co.; Airline stewardess — representatives from United Airlines; Law enforcement — William Crooks of the Fayette County Sheriff's Department.

Cosmetology — Tonda Anderson of Connie's Coiffeurs; Barber — Gary Hidy of Washington Square Barber Shop; Truck driving — Cecil FAVOR and Robert Barker; Data Processing — Warner Wellman of Steele Data Processing; Masonry — Jim Creed of Laurel Oaks Joint Vocational School; Fireman — Dave Seaman of the Washington C. H. Fire Department.

Mechanic — John Waddle and Ben Wallingford; Military — Edward Kehoe, a local recruiter; Funeral Directing — Dave Morrow of Morrow-Huffman Funeral Home and Roger Kirkpatrick of Kirkpatrick Funeral Home; Lab technician — Bruce VanBergen of Fayette Memorial Hospital; Machinist — Phil Brewer of Mac Tools; Food Service — Exley Wical of the Laurel Oaks Joint Vocational School.

Secretary — Shirley Wright of the Huntington Bank of Washington C. H. and Belinda Oughterson of the First National Bank; Plumbing and heating — Bud Patton of Fayette Supply Co.; Electrician — Tim Hill of Hill Electric Co.; Teaching — Donna Kelley of the Washington C. H. city school system; Medicine and Pharmacy — Jerry Ragland of Fayette Memorial Hospital; Nursing — Lori Prater of Fayette Memorial Hospital; Engineering — Stan Hannah of Modern Sales, Wilmington; Management —

Some decreases possible for agencies

Rhodes sets budget

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Republican Gov. James A. Rhodes takes his 1975-1977 budget proposals to the Democratic legislature today amid predictions he will call for fiscal belt tightening and no new taxes.

Director Howard L. Collier of the Office of Budget & Management declined to give details in advance, calling the document "the toughest one I've ever worked on." He served as finance director during Rhodes' previous administration.

However, it was reported otherwise that Rhodes will call for minimal increases in the appropriations of some agencies, if not actual decreases, and in almost every instance a smaller amount than asked in the budget proposals left behind by former Democratic Gov. John J. Gilligan.

House Finance Chairman Myrl Shoemaker, D-88 Bourneville, said he understood the Rhodes' budget will call for spending in the two years starting July 1 of about $11.35 billion or about $150 million less than Gilligan.

The 1973-1975 budget was $10.1 billion.

However, the governor reportedly will ask for some major shifts of funds in the Gilligan document, which has been under study several weeks by Shoemaker's Democrat-controlled committee. The panel already has done some cutting and shifting on its own.

Rhodes will need new funds to carry out programs he promised in his election campaign last fall. These must come from presently available revenues on the basis of no new taxes, also a Rhodes campaign promise.

The governor is expected to ask for a change in the state income tax law permitting married couples to choose between filing joint or individual returns. Present law says they must file the same type of return they filed under the federal income tax, which usually means more state tax liability.

Rhodes also promised a program under which survivors of police, firemen, and prison guards killed in the line of duty would continue to receive their salaries until the time at which they would have become eligible for retirement.

Some of the funds for those programs could become available by reductions Rhodes presently is making in the state payroll, unless he has plans to refill those positions later on.

Rhodes ordered a cut of about 10,000 in the state payroll which stood at about 57,000 when he took office, excluding university and county welfare department employees.

Otherwise, Rhodes is expected to cut almost in half the $500 million in new money Democrats want to funnel into Ohio's primary and secondary education program. The Democratic proposal would hike the total outlay for the schools from $1.8 billion this biennium to $2.3 billion the next biennium, with state support increased from about 40 to 45 per cent. The state paid about 30 per cent of the education tab when Rhodes was governor before. Gilligan proposed an increase of $264.6 million for higher education to boost the total in that category to $1.054 billion over the biennium. Shoemaker's committee already has trimmed the (Please turn to page 2)

Lt. Gov. Richard Celeste

At Democrat dinner

Celeste discusses economic proposals

By MIKE FLYNN
Record-Herald Editor

A series of proposals designed to spur Ohio's economy were discussed by Ohio Lt. Gov. Richard F. Celeste at a Democratic fund-raising dinner Tuesday night in the Terrace Lounge. "Governor Rhodes has been right about one important fact, during the past few weeks, the economy in Ohio, as across the nation, needs a dose of powerful medicine," Celeste told the more than 150 Democrats attending the dinner.

"TENS OF thousands of our fellow citizens desperately want work. They want to be able to continue to feed their families, pay their bills, keep up their home mortgage payments, and even pay their fair share of taxes. But, I believe Governor Rhodes' massive bond issues are a form of shock treatment which is a badly-flawed prescription," he said.

"Ohio's working citizens do not need, or want, a hefty boost in their gasoline and sales taxes, at a time when our household budgets are desperately strained. Neither do Ohio's unemployed and retired citizens," the 36-year-old Celeste pointed out during the function sponsored by the Fayette County Democrat Club.

The lieutenant governor continued by saying, "Ohio's working citizens do not need, or want, grand public buildings, expensive medical research facilities or extravagant sports palaces, at a time when we are tightening our belts at home. Ohioans do not want or need a $4 billion debt on our grandchildren at a time when we are tearing up our own credit cards."

"We must put people back to work in Ohio. We cannot wait until July, when we commence a new biennium. We cannot wait until November, when we vote on a package of bond issues," he stressed.

Celeste, who was first elected to Ohio General Assembly in 1970 and has been mentioned frequently in Democratic circles as the next gubernatorial candidate, briefly outlined for the audience a five-point program he proposed during a news conference Tuesday morning to spark Ohio's economy.

The program includes housing, highways, new and expanded industrial development, energy and emergency action for the auto industry.

Celeste said he has urged the Ohio Housing Board "to take every necessary action to bring a test case of our new housing bond authority into the Supreme Court before the end of the month. The court should look favorably on Ohio's statute, and in doing so free $500 million to create housing, and reinvigorate our construction industry at virtually no cost to Ohio's taxpayers."

On highways, Celeste said, "At this very moment, we have more than $125 million in unexpended highway bond money which is tied up because of governmental red tape. The governor should appoint, at once, 'red tape-cutting' teams to do everything necessary to complete all pending projects. These actions could free as much as $100 million in highway construction funds at no additional cost to taxpayers," he noted.

"The combination of two existing tools — 20-year real estate tax abatement in impacted areas and statewide industrial bonding authority — if they are put to work forcefully and fast can mean significant incentive to protect or create jobs. The challenge is wrap Ohio's current tax abatement and revenue bonding authority into an 'incentive package'. The governor with his characteristic vigor and salesmanship ought to create 'jobs now' teams to sell it to business leaders in Ohio," the lieutenant governor urged.

"The energy crunch poses a special roadblock to any immediate effort to generate industrial expansion. We should move at once to develop a demonstration coal gasification plant by committing Ohio to pay a substantial share of the development. A plant located near one of our industrial centers would serve notice that we are serious about attracting new industry," he said.

Finally, Celeste said, "The automobile industry is Ohio's largest employer and we should enact a bill which suspends the state's four per cent sales tax on automobiles."

CELESTE, a graduate of Yale University and a Rhodes scholar, issued a challenge to the Democrats "to stand together and at the same time stand for something."

Richard Kimmel, president of the Fayette County Democrat Club, served as master of ceremonies and the lieutenant governor was introduced by Laurence A. (Bucky) Dumford.

Dumford said campaign financial reports filed with the Madison County Board of Elections disclosed "obvious flagrant violations" by State Representative Bob McEwen. Dumford, who lost to McEwen in the November general election, said he has filed objections to the campaign expense statement and is continuing to pursue the matter.

Victim's brother 'critical'

Youth killed, 11 hurt in two-car collision

NEW HOLLAND — A 12-year-old area Lucasville boy was killed and his four-year-old brother is in intensive care at Columbus Children's Hospital as a result of a two-car collision which occurred at 1:30 p.m. Tuesday, just east of New Holland. Ten other persons in the two vehicles were also injured, including a Washington C.H. woman and her daughter.

Fatally injured in the two-car mishap was Anthony Eugene Alley, son of Mr. and Mrs. Amos Alley, Rt. 4, Lucasville. His brother, Franklin, is listed in critical condition at Children's Hospital, and a sister Roxanne, age 11, is presently in fair condition. His parents, two other brothers, another sister and his grandmother, Mrs. Geneva Alley, 50, were treated at Fayette Memorial Hospital and released. All nine were riding in one of the vehicles, and Anthony was thrown from the car at the time of the impact. Dr. Ralph Gebhart, Fayette County coroner, listed the cause of death as a crushed chest and massive internal injuries.

Mrs. Grace Lightle, 35, of 746 Eastern Ave., Washington C.H., and her daughter Kim, age 7, were passengers in the other vehicle. They and the driver, Rosemary Beecher, 29, of Circleville, were treated at Berger Hospital, Circleville, and released.

The accident occurred at the intersection of U.S. 22 and Ohio 207, two miles east of New Holland. Pickaway County sheriff's deputies who investigated the mishap said the Beecher auto was westbound on U.S. 22 when it struck the Alley automobile which had pulled into the intersection off Ohio 207. The incident is still under investigation and no one has yet been cited for any violation, sheriff's deputies said.

Funeral services for the victim will be under the direction of the Erwin-Dodson Funeral Home, Minford, but are incomplete.

Fayette County sheriff's deputies were called to the scene and assisted the Pickaway County Sheriff's Department.

All members of the Alley family were initially transported to Fayette Memorial Hospital. The two children who were in serious condition were later transferred to Columbus.

State solons correct ban on tricycles

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — State representatives were expected to correct a law that accidentally banned tricycles from sidewalks today while the Senate and House waited for Gov. James A. Rhodes' late afternoon budget message.

Although about a dozen, or so lawmakers rushed to take last year's bungle out of the code, freshman Rep. Rocco J. Colonna, D-4 Brook Park, was the first of either chamber to get a bill to the floor.

Colonna's measure deletes from the 1974 law a definition that included kiddies' tricycles under the definition of bicycles. The effect was to prohibit them on sidewalks. A new definition calls them objects "designed solely for use as a play vehicle by a child," and exempts them from bicycle regulations.

The legislature moved on a number of fronts Tuesday. Action included:

—House approval (78-2), completing passage of a measure giving a month's extension from next Saturday the cold weather period during which studded snow tires may be used on state highways.

The chief sponsor, Sen. Jerome P. Stano, D-24 Parma, said he had indications from the governor he will sign the emergency legislation prior to the existing March 15 deadline.

—House approval and sending to the Senate of bills that prohibit detention of juveniles in adult jails unless charged with a felony, (56-30) and requiring the teaching of minority group histories in public schools (74-13).

—Senate passage of a bill (31-0) that requires municipalities and townships to provide ramped curbing for wheel chairs in future street construction or renovation. Sen. Harry Meshel, D-33 Youngstown, said the measure will benefit more than 400,000 Ohioans who use wheel chairs or otherwise require ambulatory assistance.

—Introduction of a bill by Rep. Arthur Wilkowski, D-46 Toledo, to postpone the primary election from June 3 to June 24. It would permit further legislative consideration of a four-part economic package the governor would like to see on the primary instead of the November ballot. The legislature didn't approve the Rhodes' package by March 5, the deadline of 90 days before the June election.

—Introduction in the Senate of a bill that would prohibit the adding of fluoride to public water supplies pending further studies of its potential dangers. Sponsoring Sen. Donald E. "Buz" Lukens, R-4 Middletown, said he was disturbed by a "possible link with cancer" after being briefed on problems in New Orleans which he said has the highest cancer rate in the nation.

In other action, Sen. Gene Slagle, D-

26 Galion, rounded up enough votes among Monday night absentees to secure finance committee approval of a bill advancing $19 million to the transportation department. The funds, to be paid back later with gas tax and highway user revenues, would enable the department to qualify for $47 million in federal highway matching funds now available.

Rep. Kenneth R. Cox, D-41 Barberton, asked reconsideration by the House of its vote to place a recreational lands amendment on the June ballot. His motion was a parliamentary move that enables the House to designate the proposition for the November ballot.

Cox wanted to delay the issue as it now stands, since it would be the only statewide issue in June, and would necessitate special elections in communities where none is scheduled this June. His proposal provides that lands used for recreational purposes would qualify for a special tax rate.

Deaths, Funerals

Mrs. Ranson Wagner

GREENFIELD — Mrs. Pauline Wagner, 67, wife of Ranson Wagner, Rt. 1, Bainbridge, died at 8:30 a.m. Wednesday in Greenfield Municipal Hospital. Born in Wapakoneta, Feb. 1, 1908, her parents were Adam and Cora Hopengardner Crusie.

Surviving besides her husband, Ranson, whom she married Dec. 24, 1932, is a daughter, Mrs. Ray (Mary Ellen) Surber of South Salem; three sons, Robert of New Martinsburg, Franklin of Rt. 1, Bainbridge, and Darrel, Rt. 3, Greenfield; 10 grand-children and four great-grandchildren; and two sisters, Mrs. Harry (Lillian) Kokonougher of Athens, and Mrs. Ruth Wilkie of Greenfield. Three sisters and three brothers, and a son, Thomas, preceded her in death.

Services will be held at 2 p.m. Saturday in the Murray Funeral Home, Greenfield, with the Rev. Frank Dunn officiating. Burial will be in South Salem Cemetery.

Friends may call at the funeral home after 4 p.m. Friday.

Mrs. Mary Case

MOUNT STERLING — Mrs. Mary (Lena) Case, 78, Rt. 1, Mount Sterling, died Tuesday morning in the Quiet Acres Nursing Home, near Washington C. H.

Born in Scioto County, Mrs. Case's husband, Lee, died in 1959.

She is survived by four daughters, Mrs. Pauline Miller, Columbus, Mrs. Harley (Dorothy) Ford, Mount Sterling, Mrs. Ralph (Iris) Rowe, Madison Mills, and Mrs. Wendell (Betty) Bowdle, Jacksonville, Fla.; five sons, William, Bloomingburg, Harold and Donald, of Florida, Russell, of New Jersey, and Robert, of Frankfort; 14 grandchildren and three great-grandchildren, and a brother, Fred Eichenlaub, of Otway.

Friends may call at the funeral home after 3 p.m. Wednesday.

Mrs. Leita Clevenger

SABINA — Services for Mrs. Leita Clevenger, 63, Sabina, will be held at 2 p.m. Thursday in the Littleton Funeral Home, Sabina, with the Rev. Joe Lorimer officiating. Burial will be in Centerville Cemetery, Lees Creek.

Born in Clinton County, Mrs. Clevenger spent most of her life in the Wilmington and Sabina areas. The widow of Maynard Clevenger, she died Tuesday.

Friends may call at the Littleton Funeral Home from 3 to 5 and 7 until 9 p.m. Wednesday.

RALPH WALKER — Services for Ralph Walker, 60, of Bloomingburg, were held at 2 p.m. Tuesday in the Littleton Funeral Home, Sabina, with the Rev. Joe Lorimer officiating. Mrs. Walter Stackhouse played the organ.

A World War II veteran of the U.S. Army, Mr. Walker died Saturday. He had moved to Bloomingburg three months ago from Watertown, N.Y.

Pallbearers for burial in Sabina Cemetery were Waldo and Mike Lancen, William and Ronald Stewart, Terry Knisley and Donald Jackson.

Compromise over energy plans studied

WASHINGTON (AP) — A key Democrat says negotiators seeking an energy compromise between President Ford and Congress are aiming to avoid higher gasoline taxes and oil import quotas this year while the economy is ailing.

Rep. Al Ullman, D-Ore., chairman of the House Ways and Means Committee which is drafting an energy bill, said his plan for an eventual 40-cent-gallon increase in gasoline taxes is dead. Instead, he said a five-cent hike next year would be more likely.

He indicated other members of the panel objected to the steep increase, from the present four-cent-a-gallon rate, for fear it would further depress the economy.

Ullman said hearings before his committee will conclude Monday and key decisions on what the measure will contain should be made before the Easter recess.

The goal is to get the bill to the House floor by mid-April, he said.

The Easter recess also is the target for final action on the $21-billion, tax-cut bill passed by the House and now before the Senate Finance Committee.

Ford said Tuesday the Senate should not consider a repeal of the oil depletion allowance together with the tax-cut bill. The President said he was concerned the controversy over the oil depletion allowance would delay the tax cut.

The President was told Tuesday by Federal Energy Administrator Frank G. Zarb that "a compromise can be reached in the next several weeks" with congressional leaders on energy legislation.

Ullman and Zarb and their staffs have been working on the compromise. Compromise within Democratic ranks led to Ullman's statement that a steep gasoline tax hike isn't likely in the near future.

"My judgment is we'll not go beyond five cents next year," he said, referring to an increase in the gasoline tax. The Ways and Means Committee's package also is expected to include standby authority for the President to impose gasoline allocation and rationing.

Hanoi reserves moving south

WASHINGTON (AP) — Recent U.S. intelligence reports say the North Vietnamese army has started moving elements of its home-based strategic reserve toward South Vietnam.

Some military analysts describe this as an ominous development, recalling similar enemy movements which preceded the big North Vietnamese offensive three years ago. Reports from Indochina within the past few days speak of the North Vietnamese spring offensive as having begun.

However, the Pentagon's public position is more cautious and stopped short of describing the new wave of North Vietnamese attacks as a countrywide offensive.

LaForce engine gets new chance

WASHINGTON (AP) — The LaForce automobile engine, catapulted to national attention and then relegated to obscurity within a few months, will get a second chance to show whether it can radically improve fuel economy.

A staff report published by the Senate Commerce Committee today recommended that new, independent tests be conducted on the controversial engine in an effort to resolve discrepancies among earlier federal, state and private tests.

The report said the Environmental Protection Agency, which flunked the engine last year, should test it again if the results are promising. The agency stands by its earlier findings but has agreed to follow the Senate investigators' recommendations.

"We are very pleased with the staff's recommendations and will do everything practical to follow them," said Edward LaForce of Richmond, Vt., who, with his brother Robert, developed the LaForce-modified engine.

But Edward LaForce indicated in a telephone interview that he is skeptical of independent laboratories and said, "We will have to find one that doesn't have a conflict of interest."

LaForce spokesmen previously have claimed that many labs receive funding from EPA and thus can't be objective.

The inventor also said his firm, Ventur-E Inc., is trying to raise funds to buy its own testing equipment to run the same tests that the environmental agency conducted.

The Internal Revenue Service seized the LaForce lab about 10 days ago for nonpayment of employee withholding taxes and has been making arrangements to sell the property. And three former employees have filed suit to force the firm to pay them back wages they say the LaForces owe them.

Edward LaForce said he is optimistic that he and his brother will have those problems ironed out soon and can go back to work.

Several years ago, Edward LaForce and some of his associates were accused by the Securities and Exchange Commission of fraudulently selling unregistered securities in a company that was developing a device they claimed could remove harmful emissions and improve mileage.

LaForce denied the charges but consented to an injunction barring further sale of the securities.

LaForce said in the interview Tuesday that he had been unable, until now, to give the securities commission enough technical information about the invention to register the company and sell stock to raise money for research and development.

"Now our patent problems are cleared up and we will be able to give the SEC the information they need," he said.

Israel says negotiations have brought no surprises

JERUSALEM (AP) — The negotiations for a new Israeli-Egyptian agreement have turned up no problems so far that Israel did not anticipate, Foreign Minister Yigal Allon said as Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger resumed his shuttle diplomacy.

"We all feel we are now laboring in a very crucial period in which important developments may or may not take place," Allon said Tuesday night after Kissinger returned from Turkey and met for an hour with Israeli negotiators in Premier Yitzhak Rabin's office.

Kissinger was meeting again today with Rabin and his aides and then flying to Aswan, in upper Egypt, to see President Anwar Sadat.

Egypt is demanding that Israel give up the strategic Gidi and Mitla mountain passes and the Abu Rudeis oilfields in the Sinai desert. In return, Israel wants Egypt to end its 26-year-old state of war against the Jewish state and open the Suez Canal to cargo to and from Israel.

Although Sadat has said a declaration of nonbelligerency could only be part of a final Arab-Israeli peace treaty, the semiofficial Egyptian newspaper Al Ahram said a limited pledge by both sides to refrain from military action was under consideration.

Quoting official sources, it said Israel and Egypt pledged in their first disengagement agreement last year to refrain from undertaking any naval, air or land operations against each other in the Suez Canal area.

"Discussions are now under way to agree on similar arrangements" for the expanded area that would be covered by a new disengagement agreement, it said. It indicated that the United Nations might be asked to supply naval forces to police the agreement in the Mediterranean and the Red Sea.

Kissinger told newsmen that he believed his talks Tuesday in Ankara with Turkish leaders resulted in progress toward a resumption of negotiations between the Greek and Turkish Cypriot communities to decide the political future of the divided Mediterranean island of Cyprus.

"We are trying to find a framework for the negotiations, but a detailed basis will have to be developed by the negotiators themselves," he said.

U.S. officials in Kissinger's party said the talks between the two Cypriot communities would resume "fairly soon" in Nicosia and would move later to Vienna.

The officials said Turkey has been quietly reducing its occupation force on Cyprus and is willing to give up some of the northern 40 per cent of the island which it occupied in the invasion last summer.

Diplomats at U.N. headquarters in New York said Kissinger proposed that the Security Council call for the negotiations to resume under the "auspices and direction" of Secretary-

Draft lottery drawing held

WASHINGTON (AP) — Men born Dec. 8, 1956, were assigned No. 1 today in the annual stand-by draft lottery.

No. 2 was drawn for those with June 19 birthdays. No. 3 was assigned to those born March 22.

The men born in 1956 were given numbers in case they have to be called if the military draft is resumed.

The drawing began at 10:10 a.m. EDT with No. 9 being assigned to those born July 3.

April 5 drew No. 5. With just over half the numbers drawn, No. 4 was yet to be assigned.

Defense Department spokesman William Beecher told a briefing Tuesday that "we don't see anything really massive at this stage."

Beecher said Pentagon analysts "don't foresee a major offensive on the order of Tet" in 1968. However, he did not rule out the possibility, noting that the North Vietnamese have the means to support a massive drive.

Defense sources said there are mixed opinions among Pentagon leaders on whether the North Vietnamese are embarking on a major offensive or whether this is only another in a series of "high points" in Communist military activity that may subside after a few weeks.

If Ford administration leaders come to the conclusion that it is a big push, they would be faced with a decision on how to act.

Their options appear very limited, unlike in 1972 when President Richard M. Nixon met the North Vietnamese offensive with a huge concentration of U.S. air and naval power.

Although U.S. armed strength in Southeast Asia has been drastically reduced since those days, the United States still has about 200 strike planes, including 17 B52 bombers, in Thailand, plus other warplanes aboard 73 Fleet carriers and on Guam.

But these could not be sent to help the South Vietnamese without specific approval by Congress, which has banned further U.S. combat in Indochina.

The Ford administration also could seek congressional approval of special new military aid to South Vietnam to deal with the enlarged North Vietnamese threat.

Defense officials say that one serious result of intensified North Vietnamese battlefield pressure, even if it turns out to be less than an all-out offensive, would be to accelerate the drain on South Vietnam's already depleted ammunition supplies.

Intelligence reports reaching the Pentagon this week have raised the estimate of North Vietnamese troop movements into South Vietnam and neighboring Laos.

The current estimate is that 56,000 North Vietnamese entered South Vietnam in the past two months and that another 9,000 to 10,000 moved into Laotian areas along the South Vietnamese border.

Intelligence men estimated that North Vietnamese infiltration so far this year has been double what it was a year ago.

increase to $173.8 million. The Ohio Board of Regents requested about $390 million more than committee Democrats would approve.

In other areas, there were predictions that Rhodes planned to ask for a 10 per cent pay hike for state employees, and that Gilligan's proposed $2.2 billion budget for welfare might be adjusted upward to meet increasing case loads resulting from current economic ills.

Although figures were not made available, Dr. Timothy B. Moritz, director of the Department of Mental Health and Mental Retardation, said the mental health program will include a shift toward more community treatment centers and away from institutionalization.

Gilligan proposed $141.7 million worth of state health care programs which committee Democrats now have cut to $135.3 million. Most of that item remained in question as Rhodes' spending document was awaited.

Attorney suspended

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The Ohio Supreme Court today suspended Columbus attorney Edwin Tuttle from the practice of law for an indefinite period.

The court, which is the disciplinary agent of the state bar, said Tuttle was guilty of professional misconduct in handling clients' funds.

Tuttle was found guilty of comingling funds from an estate he was handling and from several business accounts and using the funds for his own purposes.

Stock prices go down

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market slipped into a broad decline today in profit taking after the sharp rally of the past three months.

The noon Dow Jones average of 30 industrials was down 4.54 at 766.35. Losers outnumbered gainers by close to a 3-1 margin in moderately active trading on the New York Stock Exchange.

"I think this is a normal reaction after a very large gain," observed Newton D. Zinder at E.F. Hutton & Co. "The market has come a long way in a very short time."

S.S. Kresge was the most active issue on the Big Board, down 1/4 at 25 1/2.

At the American Stock Exchange, the market-value index lost .30 to 78.14.

Glamor issues were mostly lower. The NYSE's composite index of all its listed common stocks gave up .27 to 44.33.

Heading the active list at the Amex was Larwin Realty & Mortgage Investors, up 1 1/4 at 6 1/4.

Demo policy vote slated on Cambodia

WASHINGTON (AP) — A Democratic policy vote could determine the chances for House approval of emergency U.S. military aid for Cambodia, already narrowly endorsed by a Senate subcommittee.

The House Democratic Caucus policy vote scheduled today could provide the first, broad measure of House sentiment about President Ford's Cambodia aid request if enough members show up.

The special caucus was called to vote on a resolution opposing any new U.S. military aid to either South Vietnam or Cambodia.

A compromise $125-million authorization for military aid for Cambodia was approved by a Senate Foreign Relations subcommittee Tuesday 4 to 3. President Ford has recommended $222 million for Cambodia.

A House foreign affairs subcommittee deadlocked 3 to 3 on a proposed $83-million military aid authorization for Cambodia and postponed a decision until this afternoon.

"The only agreement in the subcommittee is that the situation is terminal," said Rep. Michael J. Harrington, D-Mass.

The swing vote is likely to be Rep. Gus Yatron, D-Pa., who was absent. The proposal before the House subcommittee would authorize the Cambodia aid only a month at a time for three months and would require President Ford to certify to Congress each month that serious efforts are being made to negotiate an end to the Cambodia fighting.

Several members indicated the deadlock was not over approving military aid but over the restrictions under which it would be approved.

"It's not the problem of whether or not there isn't a desire to get out (of Cambodia) but how, and that is where the basic problems occur," Harrington said.

Opinion And Comment

Two new cabinet members

President Ford's Cabinet has been strengthened by Senate confirmation of two new members, Carla Anderson Hills and John T. Dunlop, on successive days. Each is a promising addition to the roster of major department heads.

There are similarities and marked differences between the two new Cabinet members. Both are known for unusual intelligence, and for achievement in their chosen fields - Dunlop primarily as an economist, Mrs. Hills in law. The latter has won the respect of her colleagues in the Department of Justice, where she held a supervisory position until her appointment. Dunlop taught economics at Harvard for many years, served as dean of the faculty of sciences and arts, and most recently was head of the government's Cost of Living Council.

It is on the score of experience in the province of the departments they are soon to head that Mrs. Hills and Dunlop differ most significantly. He has been steeped in labor problems during much of his professional life, and has from time to time been a labor negotiator and arbitrator. He thus comes as an expert to leadership of the Department of Labor. Mrs. Hills, in contrast, has had almost no direct involvement in problems of housing and urban development; as head of the department which handles these matters she must at first rely on her intelligence and on the skills developed in the practice of law and in directing the work of numerous fellow lawyers in Justice.

There is nevertheless reason to feel that in her case, as in that of John Dunlop, the President has chosen wisely. Dunlop and Mrs. Hills promise to bring strong, creative leadership to Labor and Housing and Urban Development, two departments where these qualities have not been much in evidence lately.

A WORD EDGEWISE. . . By John P. Roche

Capitol his sandbox

Some time ago I elaborated a bit on the problem facing the Democratic party as a consequence of winning the 1974 elections too big. The people have a roaring recession, ever-increasing unemployment and great expectations. It is now March, and so far the only thing that has been accomplished is the organization of four or five investigations of the Central Intelligence Agency. In the Senate, a seemingly interminable battle raged over the attempt to limit filibustering, leaving one with the distinct impression that if that body consisted of 99 liberal Democrats and Alabama's formidable conservative Democrat, James Allen, it would still not be able to institute a three-fifths rule on closing debate.

There was an Alice-in-Wonderland quality about the Senate's activities. Indeed, reading the summary in "Congressional Quarterly," you might have thought that a high school debating team was getting spring training in Robert's Rules of Order. Listen in part to what the "world's greatest deliberative body" was up to on February 24:

Senator Allen first got the Senate to drop consideration of the vital Rail Reorganization Bill and forced debate on the resolution for easing cloture. Senator Walter Mondale immediately moved to cut off debate, but majority leader Mike Mansfield raised a point of order against the Mondale motion. Mondale then moved to table Mansfield's point of order. Allen, back again, moved a broader point of order. The president pro tem ruled Allen's point of order out of order: as the vote began on this, Allen asked for a quorum call.

They counted the house, found a quorum present, and Allen promptly renewed his point of order. After some confusion, Allen made another quorum call, but the president pro tem held him out of order; Allen appealed the decision; Mondale moved to table Allen's appeal; Allen again asked for a quorum call. More chaos interrupted by Mike Mansfield's irate statement that, "We do not know what is going on." A vote was taken on Allen's motion to recess for one hour. He lost, bringing up Mondale's motion to table Allen's appeal of the president pro tem ruling. Allen then made a priority motion to table something or other. Senator Jacob Javits called for an immediate vote; Allen for the fourth time called for a quorum.

Enough! Suffice it to say that this was only about half the day's fun and games. And that day was followed by two more with exactly the same scenario. As "Congressional Quarterly" put it, summarizing the work of February 26: "Before the Mondale motion could be taken up, Long and other conservatives rose to bitterly protest Rockefeller's failure to recognize Allen. Their protests took up the rest of the day." (Another week would pass before the issue was settled.)

Now rules are important; but their function it to get the people's business accomplished. Thus the view - elevated into high Constitutional theory by the conservatives - that one-third of the Senate can prevent decision by refusing to permit a vote is undemocratic nonsense. The majority, whether Democratic or Republican, has right; notably, the right to transform proposals into public policy. It's no fun - as I can testify - to be on the losing end, but that is the name of the game, the only game in town. (Those who don't like this game can always move and join the 5 per cent in the Soviet Union, or the less than 1 per cent in Communist China, who as members of the Party protect the rights of the minority.)

But the most intolerable aspect of this joyous session in the kiddie's sandbox is the probable reaction of the American people. From their frustrated viewpoint, the President is a dud and the Congress a joke and, despite rumors to the contrary, they are not "alienated" or prepared to abandon the "system." They are madder than hell that nothing is being done about their problems, and, in their own quiet fashion, keeping score.

In practical terms, what this adds up to is a lively chance that in 1976 they will march to the polls, dump a Republican President because of his penchant for simulated activism, and decimate a Democratic Congress because of its inability to run a peanut stand. At the moment an impartial observer, whatever his personal position, could hardly blame them. When the Chief Executive says, in effect, that reality is blue, and Congress replies, "No, it's on 220 volts," the obvious answer is to put in new teams.

Ohio Perspective

Kurfess awaiting return to power

By PERRY SMITH

Associated Press Writer
COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — He'll be the first to tell you he's no longer "Mr. Powerful" in the Ohio General Assembly, but House Minority Leader Charles F. Kurfess believes good things can happen to those who wait.

Kurfess, R-82 Perryburg, doesn't deny that he nurses higher political ambitions, but he is leaving his options open. The governorship and the U.S. Senate are jobs he talks about.

"Remember that the Senate is a legislative body," he said. "On the other hand, my legislative experience has whetted an interest in state government and that, naturally, would propel one toward the governorship."

Kurfess, who just turned 45, first entered the legislative halls as a Senate page back in 1956. A year later, he was back as an elected House member. He was a freshman in law school at the time.

For five of his 19 years in the House, Kurfess was its speaker. He is now entering his second term as minority leader.

"Legislative leadership work is always frustrating - and more so for you if you are in the minority," he said.

On the other hand, you have more latitude. You can be more free-wheeling. You don't have to see that something is done today."

Kurfess said he understands that Gov. James A. Rhodes, also a Republican, must now deal with Democrats who control both houses of the General Assembly.

"He (Rhodes) is very accommodating to changing circumstances the way he sees them," he said. "We understand that."

Kurfess said it is Democrats that will get Rhodes' legislation through and Republicans can only help. "I think we are fortunate in having the governor we have."

Rhodes, he noted, has had Democratic support for most of his programs in his previous eight years as governor.

Kurfess said his philosophy of government basically matches that of the Republican Party - a conservative in fiscal affairs but "not an across-the-board conservative."

He said he was liberal in his college days, and is proud of legislation to aid parochial schools and requiring open housing that he pushed through despite his conservative leanings.

Dear Abby:

ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

He's against fiddling around in the bedroom

DEAR ABBY: Your answer to "Old-Fashion Mother" concerning her daughter and boyfriend practicing guitar in her bedroom gave me mixed feelings. They may not have been doing anything "wrong," but if allowed, the bedroom might get to be a convenient place to visit for a bit of privacy.

I am married now, but when I was in high school, I had a similar experience. A girl in one of my classes offered to teach me how to play the violin. She practiced in her bedroom, so that is where the lessons commenced.

Her Mother came in and told us that she was going next door for a little while. Nothing "bad" happened but I confess, I felt very uncomfortable the whole time.

I'm glad that in this case there were no more lessons. I might add that a year or two later this girl had to get married.

OLD-FASHION FATHER

DEAR FATHER: Your young classmate obviously did a little fiddling around. But why mistrust the entire next generation because of one violinist's accident?

DEAR ABBY: I have been married for eight years and have two children. I used to have a really nice figure, but now I have absolutely no bust at all. I have been wearing padded bras so I'll look halfway decent in clothes.

I have been thinking about getting some silicone implants, but need to know more about it. How much does it cost? And how long does it take to fully recover from such surgery?

You see my husband is going abroad for six weeks and I may want to surprise him with a new me when he comes back.

Hurry your answer, please.

CONSIDERING IT
DEAR CONSIDERING: The healing time varies with the patient, and the cost varies with the doctor.

Talk to your own plastic surgeon. I seldom offer unsolicited advice but in your case I'll make an exception, and urge you NOT to surprise your husband with a new "you." If you're doing it for him, he may prefer the old "you."

DEAR ABBY: I am truly desperate. Never in my wildest dreams did I ever think that when I became a mother it would be the loneliest time of my life. I am so depressed that I can't even communicate with my husband anymore, and he is tired of hearing it.

Abby, if I had even an inkling that motherhood was such a one-sided affair, I swear I would not have had a baby.

I love my three-month-old baby very much, and I love my husband, too, but when does it all come together? It seems all I do is make formula and wash diapers now, and my husband and myself caring about each other comes last on the list.

Why did everything change so drastically? What I expected to be the happiest time of our lives has turned out to be a nightmare.

I have lost all my freedom, my husband (emotionally, so far) and my own identity. In spite of being a wife and mother now, I am still ME! I can't wait to go back to my job at the office.

I feel so guilty about the way I feel, but I can't help it. Please help me, Abby. I love my husband, but I have never been more miserable and I don't want to lose what once was a good marriage.

LOST MOTHER

DEAR MOTHER: Please tell your doctor what you have told me. You are apparently suffering from "post-partum depression." It's not uncommon, and your doctor will help you get over it. Don't despair. Many new mothers have experienced the feelings you describe, but it need not last long.

Former Mount Sterling man heads college medical unit

MOUNT STERLING — A former Mount Sterling man was recently named to head the Gold Docent unit at the new school of medicine at the University of Missouri.

Dr. William D. Mason, a 1959 graduate of Mount Sterling High School, an associate professor in the university's school of pharmacy and a lecturer with the school of medicine, has been named to head the unit which is a new type of laboratory designed to assist physicians and medical students care for their patients with a level of skill generally unmatched in the health care system.

The unit at the University of Missouri is one of five facilities of its kind in the nation and the only one in the Midwest. The biopharmacometrics laboratory tells physicians the concentration of prescribed medication in their patients blood within two hours after a blood sample is taken. In this manner, the physicians are able to determine when the drug reaches its therapeutic concentration, as well as how close it is to the toxic level.

Knowing blood concentrations is particularly important because patients react differently to the same dosage of a drug, Dr. Mason pointed out. The standard dose based on the patients' weight may not be adequate, or it may be toxic, he added.

In the traditional approach, the physician monitors his patient's symptoms and makes a judgment decision. It is often difficult for the physician to make an accurate decision, and the new laboratory is aiding by providing specific information.

Dr. Mason, a graduate of Ohio State University where he received his bachelors, masters and doctorate degrees, is in the second year of a three-year U.S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare grant. He is studying how antibiotics can be tamed for studies similar to the ones conducted on other medications. Dr. Mason and his team have been successful with medications that bring heart irregularities under control, and anti-convulsant drugs.

Dr. Mason and his wife have two children. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. William Mason, of Mount Sterling, and the nephew of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Merritt, of Mount Sterling.

Prince Philip visits ranch

TEGUCIGALPA, Honduras (AP) — Prince Philip, husband of Queen Elizabeth II of England, has visited a ranch owned by Honduran President Gen. Oswaldo Lopez-Arellano.

He went to the ranch Tuesday, which is 100 miles north of the capital, after meeting with British subjects living in Honduras.

The prince will travel to Costa Rica on Thursday aboard the royal yacht Britannia.

Showers and possibly thunderstorms were expected to continue over the state through tonight, with some of the showers being locally heavy.

The forecast called for the possibility of showers again over eastern and southern Ohio on Thursday.

Temperatures were forecast to climb generally into the 50s over the state today and to drop tonight into the 30s and low 40s as the wind shifted to a northwesterly direction.

Thursday was expected to be cooler, with highs in the upper 30s and 40s.

A morning high pressure system was centered over Maine and low pressure prevailed from Lake Superior southward to Texas.

A strong southerly flow of moist air was established east of the low pressure trough across Ohio.

The low pressure trough over the central portion of the country was expected to move eastward to the Appalachians by Thursday morning.

Showers spread from the southwest over most of Ohio Tuesday night.

Temperatures early this morning were generally in the 30s and low 40s. Toledo was lowest with 34 degrees and Dayton was high with 40 degrees.

Community Education eyed again

Recreation board request city to execute contract for program

The Washington C.H. City Recreation Board Tuesday night unanimously agreed to request that Washington C.H. City Council members execute another contract with the Community Education program for operation of summer recreation activities in the city.

The city instead of employing a recreational director during the summer months, allocated the $3,000 recreational fund to Community Education program director Hank Shaffer to schedule and supervise the 10-week summer activities in city parks last year.

Under the auspices of Community Education, the summer recreation program was an overwhelming success last year and the five-member recreation board has recommended that City Council take similar action this year.

SHAFER presented a review of last year's summer recreation program to board members. His report disclosed 2,517 persons participated in the summer recreation program last year in Washington C.H.

A breakdown of the report disclosed 86 persons were involved in the city tennis tournament and 210 persons received tennis lessons. There were a total of 24 tennis teams.

A total of 470 persons took part in the softball program, including 160 in the men's slow pitch league, 120 in the church league and 190 in the junior girls league.

Four representatives of the junior girls softball league attended the recreation board meeting in an attempt to complete preliminary arrangements for scheduling diamonds for their summer program. Presently, there are 16 junior girls teams which will be participating.

During a reorganizational meeting, Mrs. Jeddy Graves was re-elected as chairman of the city recreation board. Washington C.H. City Manager Dan Wolford will continue to serve as secretary. Other board members are Robert Craig, Dale Lynch, Jim Ward and Marshall Boggs.

WALLCOVERING DO-IT-YOURSELF CLINIC TO BE HELD

March 19, 1975 7:00 to 9:00 P. M.

More and more homeowners are interested in "Do-It-Yourself" projects and are interested in learning the necessary skills. A special "Do-It-Yourself" training wallcovering clinic will be held at Foy Johnston Paint on March 19, 1975 at 7:00 to 9:00 P.M. This clinic will feature a recently completed sound-color, professionally acted, motion picture on how to hang wallcovering for the do-it-yourselfer. Featured in the film are such subjects as: measuring, preparing surfaces, mixing and applying paste, cutting and matching. It was designed to specifically answer the questions most commonly asked by homeowners. A technical representative will be present to answer questions during the discussion period.

There is no admission charge but a reservation is necessary to attend the clinic. Reservations can be made by calling 335-3850. A drawing for door prizes will be held.

Thurber drawings found on walls

NEWTOWN, Conn. (AP) — The attic walls of an old house have yielded dozens of cartoons sketched more than 40 years ago by humorist James Thurber.

Frumpy, stooped men march along one wall on their way to fish. Nearby, a dog takes a typical Thurber-dog nap in a chair.

Some of the characters have names — presumably people and animals the humorist knew when he lived in the house from 1931 to 1934.

"My husband was up in the attic trying to figure out where the old staircase went," said Catharine Coster, who with her husband, Allen, now occupies the home.

"He pulled layers and layers of wallpaper off the attic walls looking. And then suddenly he found the pencil sketch entitled, 'The Life of a Dog.' He was so excited he woke me up at 6 o'clock in the morning."

Careful stripping of additional paper bared three walls covered with cartoons, although some are faint and hard to see.

Helen Thurber, the humorist's second wife, said the attic was his writing room and there is "no question" that he did the wall cartoons — "He always did drawings on people's walls."

The Costers believe Thurber wrote several books in the room between 1931 and 1933, including "The Owl in the Attic," "The Seal in the Bedroom," and "My Life and Hard Times."

The Costers want to share their find with the public, but the narrow winding stairway makes the room nearly inaccessible. They are considering moving the plaster walls to a library, possibly at the Department of Thurber Studies at Ohio State University.

In what may have been a very personal panel, Thurber drew an aggressive woman thrusting a flower toward a cowering, small man with the caption, "Rosemary-for remembrance."

Wedding plans are complete

Plans for the marriage of Miss Rhonda L. Cockerill and Brad H. Crosby have been completed. Miss Cockerill is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Cockerill of 528 Lewis St. and Mr. Crosby is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul D. Crosby of 8 Hali Drive.

The marriage ceremony will be performed at 6:30 p.m. Saturday in First Presbyterian Church by Rev. Gerald Wheat. Mrs. Earl Hartley will present wedding selections on the organ.

Miss Cockerill has asked Miss Beth

Crosby, sister of the prospective groom, to be her maid of honor. Bridesmaids will be the Misses Cheryl Kraynak of Youngstown, Liz Burr of Bellevue, and Roberta Alkire of Buckeye Lake, a cousin of the bride-elect.

Lonnie Wilson will serve as best man. Seating the wedding guests will be James Heath, Bruce Messner and Kyle Cockerill, a brother of the bride-elect. Dennie Cockerill will be the acolyte.

A reception will follow at the Washington Country Club.

Miss Cockerill is feted

The lovely country home of Mrs. Marion Cockerill was the setting recently for a bridal shower given for her granddaughter, Miss Rhonda L. Cockerill, bride-elect of Brad Crosby, whose wedding will be an event of Saturday, March 15.

Guests were each given a pink corsage as they were greeted by Misses Brenda and Becky Cupp, and Miss Garel Cockerill.

Entertaining contests were enjoyed by the guests, followed by the serving of a pink-champagne punch, pink and green ribbon sandwiches, and cake topped with a pink rosette. The table was centered with a pink rosebud arrangement, which matched the honored guest's corsage. The color scheme of pink, green and silver prevailed throughout the home.

Miss Cockerill opened her gifts and thanked each guest graciously. She was then presented the arrangement from the gift table by her grandmother. Co-hostesses for the occasion were Mrs.

Sunny East Homemakers make favors

Mrs. Ronald Burns, president of the Sunny-East Belles Homemakers Club, conducted the meeting held in the home of Mrs. Robert Riley Tuesday evening. A potluck supper preceded the meeting and devotions were given by Mrs. Debbie Young, entitled "The Crucified Christian."

A letter from Mrs. Edna Naylor was read concerning gifts for the 'Community Outreach Program' at First Presbyterian Church, and members agreed to bring items for this project to the April meeting. The treasurer's report was made by Mrs. Robert W. Fries in the absence of Mrs. Don Belles, and Mrs. Allen McClung gave the secretary's report.

The next meeting will be held in the home of Mrs. Dwight Foy, when an auction is planned. Members should also bring homemade items for this project. Mrs. Burns and Mrs. Robert Climer will be assisting hostesses.

A nominating committee, consisting of Mrs. Willard Greer, chairman, Mrs. Riley and Mrs. Chester Clay, was appointed. They will present a slate of candidates for new officers.

Easter favors were made during the remainder of the evening, to be presented to patients in the Washington Ave. Nursing Home. Mrs. Sheldon Grubb, craft chairman, conducted the project.

Those present were Mrs. Burns, Mrs. Riley, Mrs. Clyde Estle, Mrs. Debbie Young, Mrs. Fries, Mrs. Climer, Mrs. Allen McClung, Mrs. Greer, Mrs. Grubb, Mrs. Clay, Mrs. Bernard Huffman, Mrs. Roy Yahn, Mrs. Jo Ann Baughn, and guests, Debbie Srofe and Sherri Baughn.

Antique, Crafts for Cancer proceeds are $1100

The fourth annual Antique Show and Crafts for Cancer sponsored by Phi Beta Psi Sorority was held Friday, March 7 through 9, and a total proceeds of $1100.00 will be presented to the American Cancer Society. Dealers came from Kentucky, Florida, Cincinnati, Urbana, Hillsboro, and elsewhere in the state of Ohio. This was a bigger show than in 1974, and more dealers came with greater public attendance.

Proceeds from the items made by Sorority members for the Crafts Booth will be dedicated to the late Donna Jean Coffman, a former Phi Beta Psi member. It was through her efforts that the show first came into being.

In addition, many handmade articles were contributed by volunteers for the American Cancer Society.

"BEAUTIFUL HAIR IS SOFT" (SHORT STYLING) — A harmonious combination of soft waves and curls, with accent on form and texture, creates a total glow of softness. This soft styling by the National Hairdressers and Cosmetologists Association will be favored by those who wish to wear hair of shorter lengths. While the crown and sides are left long enough to curl, the nape is softly fitted. This is a versatile styling that can easily be converted to softly frame a variety of facial features.

Ladies Auxiliary guests at dinner

Mrs. Jeannie Minshall conducted the meeting of Eagles Ladies Auxiliary 423 and communications were read by Mrs. Hazel Bonner, when the group met in the Eagles Home recently. There were 21 present and Mrs. Mary Jo Hunter gave the treasurer's report.

DIFFERENT EGG SAND-WICHES

Increase amounts as needed.
1 hard cooked egg
1/4 cup leftover cooked flaked fish
2 tablespoons mayonnaise
Salt and pepper to taste
4 thin slices bread
Marinated cucumber slices
Hard-cook the egg and peel; while still warm, mash with a fork; mix in fish, mayonnaise and salt and pepper. Makes 1/2 cup. Spread over 2 slices of the bread; add a layer of the well-drained marinated cucumber slices; top with remaining bread; cut each sandwich into 2 triangles. Makes 2 servings. For the marinated cucumber slices, in a shallow container stir together 1 tablespoon sugar, 3 tablespoons cider vinegar and 1/2 teaspoon salt; pare and slice thin medium cucumber and add; cover and chill — what is not used will keep well in the refrigerator for several days to be served as a relish.

North Vietnamese take district town

SAIGON, South Vietnam (AP) — The North Vietnamese overran a district town 40 miles north of Saigon today as helicopters ferried thousands of government reinforcements to a threatened provincial capital in the Central Highlands, the South Vietnamese command reported.

The command said Tri Tam, called Dau Tieng when the U.S. 25th Infantry Division defended it in the 1960s, was lost after a North Vietnamese infantry and tank assault that began Monday. The command claimed seven North Vietnamese tanks were destroyed. It said the fate of several hundred government troops was unknown.

Tri Tam was the 16th of South Vietnam's 244 district towns lost by the government since the cease-fire agreement two years ago and the closest to Saigon of those lost. Four others have been lost in the past five days. However, much of the region around Tri Tam was already controlled by the North Vietnamese and Viet Cong.

Meanwhile, hard street fighting continued for the third day in Ban Me Thuot, the besieged provincial capital in the highlands 155 miles northeast of Saigon. The helicopter reinforcements raised the government's force there to about 5,000 men, but military spokesmen said the North Vietnamese still controlled parts of the city.

The Saigon command claimed about 700 North Vietnamese killed and two dozen tanks and a dozen giant 130mm artillery guns destroyed, mostly by the air force.

Field reports said many of the city's 150,000 civilian population had fled during the night.

The U.S. Embassy said nine Americans — an official of the U.S. aid program and eight missionaries — were still trapped in Ban Me Thuot but were safe and had enough food and water.

The Saigon command said another district town 60 miles southwest of Ban Me Thuot, Kien Duc, also was holding out against North Vietnamese tank assaults.

Traffic Court

All defendants charged with traffic violations Tuesday in Municipal Court forfeited bonds for failure to appear before acting Judge Otis R. Hess Jr.

Robert R. Lowey, 52, Dayton, $500, driving while intoxicated, and $125, reckless operation; Richard C. Thomas, 19, Rio Grande, $125, reckless operation; Roger W. Welch, 25, Greenfield, $35, operated motor vehicle with expired registration plates.

Ralph D. Wolfe, 50, Chillicothe, $35, speeding; Nick Haynes, 18, Route 6, $35, speeding; Daniel M. Hoppes, 24, Route 6, $35, speeding; Everett K. Leisure, 29, of 1225 E. Paint St., $25, speeding; Martha J. Hughes, 48, of 302 Clearview Ave., $25, backing without safety.

Robert P. Gordon, 23, of 1117 Gregg St., $25, failure to yield the right of way; Jerry L. Brady, 20, of 603 E. Elm St., $25, speeding; James A. Sutton, 57, New Holland, $18, failure to stop for red light; and Dwayne K. Snyder, 32, Sedalia, $15, parking in prohibited area.

Judge fines four persons

Four persons were fined Tuesday on non-traffic charges in Washington C. H. Municipal Court by acting Judge Otis R. Hess Jr.

Michael L. Hurlless, 22, of 1121 E. Paint St., was fined $250 and sentenced to three days in jail after he pleaded no contest to a charge of assault. The jail sentence and $150 of the fine were suspended pending good behavior.

Rick Lowe, 20, of 509 Eastern Ave., was fined $100 when he pleaded guilty to assault, and Edward Brill, 19, Rt. 2, received a $50 fine for the same charge.

Wayne Rittenhouse, Sabina, was fined $50 but $25 of the fine was suspended after he pleaded guilty to passing a bad check in the amount of $5 to Bolen Market Dec. 13, 1974.

Judge Hess suspended a $50 fine against Patrick McDermott, Jeffersonville, when he pleaded guilty to a charge of disorderly conduct by intoxication.

Snow and rain cover wide area

By The Associated Press

A moisture-filled late-winter storm dumped heavy snow from the central Plains to the Great Lakes region today and touched off downpours of rain from the middle Mississippi Valley eastward.

Six inches of snow fell on O'Neill, Neb., during the night, and 5 inches on Pickstown, S.D. Depths of 3 to 4 inches were common over the southern half of Minnesota and into northern Iowa.

Roads were snow-packed and slippery in many cases, but the lack of high winds prevented much drifting. Advisories for additional accumulations continued from northern Oklahoma to Upper Michigan.

A narrow band of freezing rain glazed areas south of the snow belt, from west-central Iowa to northwestern Illinois and southwestern Wisconsin.

Thundershowers roamed a wide area from the southern Plains and lower Mississippi Valley into the Ohio Valley, and in the Carolinas and Virginia. Nearly 2 inches of rain drenched Little Rock, Ark., during the night. One-inch soakings were common.

Flash-flood watches were posted for Arkansas and portions of Missouri, Illinois, Indiana, Kentucky, Virginia and the Carolinas.

Golfball-size hail pounded an area near Charleston, S.C., Tuesday night, and large hail also accompanied thunderstorms that swept San Angelo, Tex., and Memphis, Tenn.

A tornado watch was in effect in the predawn hours for parts of southern Oklahoma, much of north-central Texas and a section of southwest Texas.

Dense fog again formed in Oklahoma, Missouri, Kansas, Arkansas, Tennessee and northern Florida before daybreak. Fair weather favored the northern Rockies and adjacent Plains and most of the Far West.

Temperatures before dawn ranged from 5 at Butte, Mont., to 77 at Key West, Fla.

Grange conducts annual inspection

The Forest Shade Grande met Tuesday night for its annual inspection and scored 844 points of a possible 1,000, according to Richard Carson, Grange deputy, who was in charge of the evaluation.

Grange members exemplified the second degree by performing the ceremonial rites of the degree. Mrs. Max Carson was the soloist, and she was accompanied on the piano by Mrs. Kenneth Jones.

Mrs. Russell Grice, chairman of the women's activities committee, announced that the annual baking and sewing contest will be held during the May meeting.

In answer to a plea for aid, the Grange contributed to the Elmwood Grange in Ross County. A donation was made to a needy family associated with the Grange there. The membership also voted to contribute to the National Grange Youth Fund and the 4-H award fund for the 1975 Fayette County Fair.

In other business, the Grange voted to renew its lease on the community ballpark in New Martinsburg and announced that the annual clean-up of Perry Township roads will be held April 5, weather permitting.

The literary program entitled "Easter" was presented by the worthy lecturer, Miss Louise Ritter.

Taking part in the second degree exemplification rites were Mrs. Robert Ritter, Miss Irene Binegar, Miss Ritter, Winfred Morgan, Mr. and Mrs. Otties Smith, Keith Binegar, Mrs. Max Carson, Mrs. Florence Bethard, Mrs. Robert Bock, Mrs. Richard Carson, Mrs. Grice, and Mrs. Maurice Sollars.

Mansfield woman succumbs to blaze

Fire Capt. David Karsmizki said there were indications a cigarette may have ignited the victim's clothing.

Ohio said facing population problem

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—An Ohio State University economic analyst said Ohio's population growth rate in the 1970s has been the third lowest in the country, while its out-migration rate is topped only by the District of Columbia.

James C. Yocum said these population trends indicate the state may be undergoing a deterioration of its industrial base, similar to that which occurred in New England and some Middle Atlantic states in the early 20th Century.

But, he added, while industries may be decentralizing, "they are not moving out of Ohio as the textile and shoe industries did in New England."

Yocum said this might spare the state some of the worst social and environmental effects of industrialization, but it was also a challenge to revitalize development programs.

Yocum said Ohio still remains the hub of "the world's greatest industrial complex," extending from New York to the Mississippi River, and development programs should aim at attracting only "the best type of industry."

Yocum, whose report appeared in a university business research bulletin, said Ohio's July 1, 1973, population of 10,731,000 represented a gain of slightly more than two-tenths per cent for each year since 1970.

During the same period, he said, the national population growth was nearly one per cent a year.

Later figures were unavailable.

Yocum said several big urban areas, such as Cleveland, Cincinnati, Dayton and Akron, saw population declines in the 1970s.

Columbus, on the other hand, has had a growth rate of 1.15 per cent a year, placing it second in the state behind Middletown.

Yocum said the population stagnation in the Appalachian region of the state was also reversed during the 1970s.

He said Ohio's 28 Appalachian counties experienced a growth of one per cent a year, compared with only .086 per cent a year in the 1960s.

Fostoria man dies in single-car crash

FOSTORIA, Ohio (AP) — Stephen Myers, 30, of Fostoria died Monday after his car ran off Ohio 12 about five miles east of Fostoria and struck a tree, police said.

Police said Myers was pinned in the wreckage for about 30 minutes.

Seniors of the Week

By GRETCHEN OWEN

Clifford John Dixon, son of Mr. and Mrs. Orville S. Dixon, Jr., 236 Chestnut St., is an active senior at Washington Senior High School.

He is the business manager for Sunburst, vice president of the senior class, NJROTC brigade commander, first and second year outstanding cadet, an active member of Hi-Y, AFS, and Lettermen's Club. He was also an alternate for Boys' State. Cliff's hobbies include coin collecting, basketball, and baseball. Besides all of his school activities, Cliff still finds time to work at McDonald's, and to deliver for his father at the Elm Street Market. After graduation he plans to attend Miami University and major in premedicine, minor in mathematics. He left the following advice to underclassmen: "Your high school days have their ups and downs, but this is a part of life, so enjoy everything you do, regardless of what happens."

Laura Lynne McNany is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William McNany, 2001 Heritage Drive.

Her hobbies include swimming, tennis, and travelling. She is a member of AFS and senior Y-Teens. She too, works at McDonald's after school. Her favorite subject is Trig. After graduation, Laura would like to travel for a year, and then attend Franklin University, where she plans to major in accounting. Her "words of wisdom" were, "Treasure your years at WSH because you will never have them back."

Jeff LeMaster is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Forest LeMaster, 754 High St.

He is an active member of Hi-Y, and in his spare time he enjoys riding bikes, fixing cars, and messing around. After graduation he plans to attend Ohio State and major in accounting. When asked to comment on his high school years, Jeff said, "Take life easy and have fun while in high school because they are the best years of your life!"

"I really love WSHS and I'm going to miss it a lot after graduation. My advice to underclassmen is work hard your last few years, but have fun because it will really go fast." This is the advice of Diane Polk, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Polk, Ohio 753-S.

After graduation, Diane would like to get a job in Columbus. Diane has been in band for seven years, and for three years she was a majorette. She has also been a student council member, and is an active member of Y-Teens, AFS, and Sunburst. Her hobbies include swimming, dancing, and attending sports activities.

Celeste supports tax exemption

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Lt. Gov. Richard F. Celeste has given his endorsement to bills pending in the legislature to suspend the sales tax on autos to try to give that troubled industry a boost.

He said Tuesday, however, that he favors a suspension that would remain in effect until June 30, rather than provisions now in the legislation that would have it continue to next Jan. 1.

Celeste commented at a news conference at which he outlined a series of steps he said could be taken to give Ohio's economy a boost. Most of them, although in need of action, are "already on the public policy stove," the Democratic lieutenant governor said.

Everything that exists in our world today is believed to have a beginning and an ending. Ancient civilizations existed between two precise time intervals. A human life originates at birth and terminates at death. Many animals evolved at one time and then became extinct thousands of years later.

Because of the alpha and omega characteristics of nearly our entire environment it is hard for the human mind to conceive infinity. We usually ask when it began, or what started it when we research a natural phenomenon. This outlook of beginning and ending limitations prohibits man from regarding spiritual concepts. God, for example, could not exist if he had to have a beginning or an ending. A supreme being existence would have to

U.S. denies role in Portugal

LISBON, Portugal (AP) — The United States has denied it had anything to do with an attack by two Portuguese air force planes on the headquarters of an artillery regiment near the Lisbon airport.

Portugal's leftist military government termed the brief attack Tuesday an uprising and blamed "reactionary" elements headed by Gen. Antonio Spínola, the military regime's first president.

President Francisco da Costa Gomes, appealed for calm and said the government was in complete control.

Brig. Gen. Otelio Saraiva de Carvalho, the government's security chief, implicated the United States, saying U.S. Ambassador Frank Carlucci "had better leave after what happened today."

"I categorically deny that the U.S. Embassy or the government was in any way involved in events in Lisbon today," said a State Department spokesman in Washington.

Military units took up positions around the U.S. Embassy as leftists surged into the street to show support for the government. A mob sacked the headquarters of the conservative Center Democratic party.

Spínola, a conservative who was ousted by leftist generals last September, fled by helicopter with his wife and 18 officers to a Spanish air force base just across the border. Unconfirmed reports said they contacted diplomatic representatives of Brazil, which gave asylum to the president and premier of the Portuguese dictatorship ousted last April.

The Spanish government announced that it also had nothing to do with the events in Portugal.

The Portuguese government closed the border with Spain and said Spínola, once the hero of the military revolution, headed a list of 28 officers who would be "arrested, tried and punished." But by then he had made his escape.

The only fighting reported was the bombing and strafing attack by two propeller-driven, air force training planes on the 1st Light Artillery Regiment barracks. A military spokesman said the attack broke windows and put holes in roof tiles of a number of buildings and slightly wounded several soldiers.

The spokesman said a unit of paratroops surrounded the barracks but were later withdrawn. Officers of the paratroop unit said they did not know exactly why they had been sent to the barracks or on whose orders.

Spínola, a figurehead for the military revolution against the 45-year dictatorship, was forced out of the presidency when he tried to get some real power at the expense of the leftist-dominated Armed Forces Movement, the officers' group that led the revolution.

With elections for a constitutional assembly scheduled next month, moderate officers have recently been reported challenging the dominant influence of leftist officers. There has been some indication of a shift back toward the center.

Woman governor may join club

HARTFORD (AP) — The first woman elected governor without succeeding her husband in office has become the first woman recommended for membership in the University Club of Hartford.

Gov. Ella Grasso's name must remain posted at the club for several weeks before membership becomes final.

Until Feb. 10, when its members voted to accept women, the club was open only to college-educated males.

Gov. Grasso was recommended for membership by state Supreme Court Chief Justice Charles S. House and attorney Joseph G. Lynch of Hartford. She was elected governor last November and is the only woman governor in the country.

Nearly $120 million in federal and state crime control funds have been granted to county and municipal governments in Ohio since 1971, according to the Ohio Department of Economic and Community Development.

be free from a definite origination. The entire reality of the universe is unexplainable if it necessarily had a beginning.

The human notion of everything having a beginning and an ending should be reconsidered. Just because our human lives begin at birth and end at death does not mean everything is plagued by these same limiting boundaries. The essence of spiritual and unworldly conceptions are far

Sweet victory

By VICKI LINDSAY

What is the chemical symbol for copper? Who owns the Crimean Peninsula? Into what body of water does it extend? Thirteen is the square root of what number? Who wrote "Murder in the Cathedral"? Can you recall the answer to those questions in slightly over a second?

That is the challenge presented by "In the Know". Those who play the game must combine skill with speed, knowledge with self-confidence. They must be willing to sacrifice their own time to meet practice schedules and scrimmage dates. Players must be dedicated since "In the Know," unlike athletic games or contests, is a "one-shot" gamble. Defeat is agonizing, but success exhilarating!

The four students who represented WSHS this past season rose admirably to the challenge. Galen Bach, Brian Galloway, Vicki Lindsay and Gretchen Owen experienced the dismal low and the fantastic high that participation on "In the Know" can bring. These young people, as well as their advisor, Mr. David Stone, can look back on the months of training with a sense of deep pride and satisfaction. Their accomplishments are by no means meager. Thus, the old year ends and the present "In the Know" team wishes for its successors a long line of unbroken victories.

beyond our human lives. These conceptions are virtually limitless, thus free from definite originations and terminations.

Defensive driving course scheduled

A defensive driving course will be offered in Fayette County March 25 and 31. It will stress good driving techniques with an emphasis on the means to avoid accidents — even if it's the other guy's fault.

The class will meet from 7 until 11 p.m. each of the two nights, and both sessions are required for successful completion of the course. Arranged by the National Safety Council, the classes have been approved by the Ohio Bureau of Motor Vehicles and Fayette County Juvenile Court Judge Rollo M. Marchant.

Those youths who have been ordered to attend the defensive driving course by Fayette County Juvenile Court should make their reservations as soon as possible. Judge Marchant said that some 25 letters of notification have been sent to those who are under court order to attend.

Mrs. Evelyn Garringer at the Fayette County Farm Bureau (335-6410) or Mrs. Art Schaefer (437-7231) should be contacted for reservations. The course will be held in the Farm Bureau auditorium, 319 S. Fayette St., and the class will be limited to approximately 50 persons. Cost of the course is $7.50 to cover the price of a textbook and teaching materials.

Since the course is approved by the bureau of motor vehicles, any Ohio driver who has accumulated five to 11 points for traffic violations may have two points removed by successfully completing the class.

Sponsoring the program this year is the women's committee of the Fayette County Farm Bureau. It is considerably longer and more involved than the programs presented in past years. Sheriff Don Thompson, who has reviewed the course material, has been impressed and added his approval of the program. It is the only defensive driving course scheduled in Fayette County this year.

Two of the many topics to be covered in the class are "The art of passing and being passed," and "How to avoid being hit from ahead or behind." Part of the instruction will come from films produced by the National Safety Council. The instructor will be Joseph Wolfe, of Columbus.

New council member appointed

B'burg solons OK eight measures

BLOOMINGBURG — Eight pieces of legislation were approved during the regular monthly meeting of Bloomingburg village council Tuesday night. A vacancy on the village council was also filled.

Council members approved four separate ordinances to renew mutual aid fire agreements with neighboring departments. Three-year mutual aid agreements with the Washington C. H., Jeffersonville, Mount Sterling and New Holland fire departments were approved.

An ordinance designating the official posting locations for all village legislation was approved. The five posting locations are the town hall and post office buildings, the Pioneer

Restaurant, Evans Market and Fink's Barber Shop.

An ordinance establishing the village street commissioner's salary at $50 per year and setting salaries for all other village employees to meet federal minimum wage standards was approved. The street commissioner was formerly paid by the village on a monthly basis.

Walter Seifried, a Washington C. H. attorney, was re-employed as the village solicitor for a one-year period.

In other matters, Ronald O. Brown, former clerk-treasurer for the village, was appointed to complete the unexpired term of council member Ray Deere, who resigned effective Jan. 1.

Brown served as clerk-treasurer in Bloomingburg from 1966 until 1970. The term expires Dec. 31, 1977. Deere had served as a village council member for the past eight years.

Council members received a letter of appreciation from Mr. and Mrs. David Cook for the village fire department's efforts in extinguishing a fire in their home three weeks ago. The cooks reside on Danville Road in Paint Township. The fire department serves Paint and Marion townships and the village of Bloomingburg.

Routine bills, totaling $1,370.30, were approved for payment.

Youth injured in leap from house window

A three-year-old Octa youth leaped from the second story window of her home at 1 p.m. Tuesday.

Fayette County Sheriff's deputies reported Tobi Kingery was playing in the upstairs bedroom when her mother called to her. The child is believed to have cranked open the window and then either jumped or fell out of it to the ground.

She was taken to Fayette Memorial Hospital, treated and released.

Fayette County Sheriff's deputies also reported the larceny of 210 gallons of fuel oil from a storage tank owned by Hysell C. Hale, 11000 Cook-Yankee town Rd.

The fuel was drained from the tank on the Hale property sometime between Friday and Tuesday. An investigation is continuing.

Pacifist back home

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — Pacifist Ernest Bromley, 63, has returned to his Butler County farm after being acquitted of disorderly conduct charges but said he was disappointed he didn't get to tell his story in court.

Bromley, found innocent Tuesday in Hamilton County Municipal Court, had been fasting since he was arrested last Wednesday while distributing literature near the federal building downtown.

Judge Rupert A. Dean ruled there was not substantial evidence to support the charges and then dismissed the case. He said Bromley had not acted in what the law called a turbulent way.

Bromley, who refused to cooperate with court or jail attendants, arrived in court in a wheel chair. He was hospitalized over the weekend when city health officials became concerned that Bromley had not taken any liquids or food for 72 hours.

Bromley, following the court hearing, said he was glad of the verdict "but sorry I didn't have a chance to tell my story." He said he intended to make preliminary remarks regarding his treatment by police.

Refugees flood Phnom Penh

By RICHARD BLYSTONE
Associated Press Writer

PHNOM PENH, Cambodia (AP) — "Okay, bye bye," the refugee children call, thronging to greet and goggle at two American visitors.

They follow by the dozen as the visitors trudge through the close-packed colony where many of them were born.

"Okay, bye bye. Okay, bye bye," they chorus, smiling and waving.

The refugee camp fills the basement and cavernous lobby of a half-finished hotel which Prince Norodom Sihanouk, Cambodia's ousted chief of state, planned as a jet-set resort complete with casino.

The 215 guest rooms, surmounted by majestic, red tile roofs, look out on temple spires and the confluence of Cambodia's two great rivers, the Mekong and the Tonle Sap. But the 3,500 beautiful people now in residence cannot use them.

"We want to avoid damage," says the government official in charge.

The refugees live in a dark warren of 5-by-5-foot cubicles, room for a slatted bed and space to turn around, with rice sacks, ponchos and cardboard sheets hung between them for privacy.

A few pigs snooze close by their owners in the dirt-floored cellar, lit by candle stubs and guttering oil lamps. Vendors flick the flies from their wares where twisting alleyways meet.

Standing in one spot you can hear two men sawing firewood, children wrestling, an old man coughing in his sleep and a woman softly weeping.

These are among the luckiest of Phnom Penh's half-million refugees. Most of them arrived two or three years ago, better fed and with more of their possessions than the newcomers coming in every day now. The early arrivals were in time to find some work at 15 cents a day to eke out their relief rations.

Their children wander the hotel grounds, carrying younger brothers or sisters on their hips as they help tend family food stands or gamble prized squares of cigarette foil in a Cambodian variation of marbles.

For them home is either these unfinished concrete walls or a fading memory mixed with fear.

"We had a house on stilts. I remember it had a high roof," 8-year-old Tant Van Ny, who arrived nearly five years ago, tells an interpreter. "It was not so beautiful, but now it is burned down. I like it here. I don't want to go back. We don't have a house any more."

Long Kim Tha, a 13-year-old with bare feet and a dusty khaki shirt, has been here three years and says "it is not very much fun."

"Both my parents are out working, so I stay here with my grandmother. I don't like to go out because I am afraid of the rockets."

Care urged in selecting tax firms

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The Ohio Commerce Department has advised Ohioans seeking professional help with federal income tax forms to carefully consider a firm before hiring it.

The department said many well-known tax preparation services have been attacked recently by the Federal Trade Commission for illegal practices.

One finance company operating in Ohio was singled out by an FTC administrative judge for advertisements offering "instant tax refunds."

The judge said the company's ads contained no warning that the "tax refunds" were normal consumer loans with regular finance charges.

The state Commerce Department said certain firms have also been charged with illegally using confidential information to solicit loans and to sell insurance, mutual funds and other services.

The department said many Ohioans may want to take advantage of the Internal Revenue Service's expanded tax assistance services.

These include two toll-free numbers to answer brief questions about specific sections of tax forms.

The number for central and northern Ohio is 1-800-362-9050 and for southern Ohio, 1-800-582-1700.

Sohio sees major role in energy

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP)—Returns from the trans-Alaska oil pipeline will help transform Standard Oil Co. (Ohio) into one of the nation's major diversified energy suppliers, the firm's annual report tells stockholders.

"The successful completion...will enable the movement of Alaskan oil to market and transform our crude-short company into one of the nation's major petroleum producing companies," the report says.

Board Chairman Charles Spahr and President Alton Whitehouse add: "We foresee opportunities for large investments in oil and gas exploration, for increasing our involvement in petrochemicals and for strengthening our petroleum refining and marketing activities."

The executives say Sohio plans to invest up to $90 million in an underground coal mine complex expected to yield about 4.5 million tons per year by 1981.

Sohio has a 50 per cent investment in a uranium mine and mill under construction in New Mexico. The unit is expected to begin operation in the second half of next year.

San Clemente police lose bid for more funds

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP) — A request by the San Clemente Police Department for $117,000 to help protect former President Richard M. Nixon has been denied by Gov. Edmund Brown Jr.'s administration.

A spokesman for the governor, whose father defeated Nixon in the 1962 California gubernatorial race, said the state Office of Criminal Justice Planning rejected the request.

Bill Stall, the Democratic governor's press secretary, said, "It's being rejected because they (the OCJP) feel this is a federal matter and not appropriate use of these funds."

Completion target date setApril 3 bid deadline for new Macon campus

MACON — Bids will be opened April 3 for the long-awaited construction of the $1.5-million facilities of the Southern State general and technical college.

The Tri-County Academic Center, an evening two-year college operated at Eastern High School in Brown County, will officially become the south campus of the five-county general and technical college on July 1. The north campus has been established in facilities of the Laurel Oaks Career Development Center on the site of the former Clinton County Air Force Base at Wilmington.

THE NEW Southern State College, created through a charter approved recently by the Ohio Board of Regents, is designed to serve primarily students in the area of Adams, Brown, Clinton, Fayette and Highland counties, but is open to all other students.

The new south campus building will be constructed on a 42-acre site on U.S. 62-S at the edge of the Fincastle community in Brown County near the junction of Adams, Brown and Highland counties.

Dr. Lewis C. Miller, president of the new Southern State College, and Richard M. Pulliam, director of the south campus, described some of the features of the new south campus facility where day and evening classes will be offered.

"We plan both day and night classes throughout the entire year," Pulliam said.

The new building will have 10 classrooms for general educational purposes, six laboratory areas, a library with an adjoining library laboratory for students preparing to become librarians, a student activity area and a number of other special facilities.

In emphasizing that the new structure will be a "public facility open to the community," Pulliam said the library, for example, is so designed it can be made accessible to the community without interfering with college courses.

Similarly, the student activity area will be available to the community as well as to students, the director added.

Another concept being incorporated in the building is open space so that faculty members when in their offices are not isolated from students.

"Instruction is just as good as the relation between the instructor and the students," Pulliam said. Faculty space is arranged to provide easy opportunity for students to meet instructors, he said. Neither are the administrative offices secluded, but they also are easily accessible to students, he added.

Offerings at the Southern State College campuses will include both liberal arts courses and technical courses which are career-oriented. In addition, Miller emphasized, there will be adult continuing education programs which will take classes to communities which he described as "satellite kinds of offerings wherever there is an interest."

Edwin Reffett, chairman of the new college's board of trustees, said construction of the south campus building is expected to be completed in time for classes to begin there in September, 1976.

The Tri-County Academic Center, now becoming the south campus of the new college, has been in operation seven years and now has approximately 400 students enrolled. The academic center was formerly affiliated with the University of Cincinnati.

SPECIAL EFFORTS are being made to acquaint residents of the five-county area in particular with the educational opportunities offered by the new institution.

Cost of courses is much less than average college fees. It is $15 per credit hour which would translate into about $700 for a full college year, it has been pointed out. This compares with about $2,800 as the average cost for a full college year in other colleges.

The low cost is available, of course, only for the first two college years offered by Southern State College, but during that time, students, who generally work because classes don't begin until 4 p.m., can save enough to pay for their remaining two college years if they decide to go further in college, Miller said.

Kentucky opens push for bridge

WASHINGTON (AP) — Kentucky Gov. Julian Carroll said his state plans to start construction in 1976 of the Interstate 275 bridge now snagged by an Ohio environmental impact statement.

Costly art proves worth
50 cents

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP) — What had been appraised as an original oil painting by a famed artist and sold for $950 turned out to be a cardboard reproduction worth about 50 cents.

S.S. Warner, the antique dealer who appraised the picture for the Toledo Art Museum, admitted the mistake, saying, "I didn't look closely enough."

The 8-by-10-inch picture showing a mother dog and her pups was part of a collection of antiques and art items willed to the museum recently with the condition that they could be sold if found unacceptable.

Mrs. Virginia Hein bought the picture, passing over another painting by the same artist, Edmund Osthaus.

She took it to a frame shop, which gave her the bad news.

Warner took the picture back and apologized to Mrs. Hein for the mistake.

The one she turned down is genuine, Warner said.

As for the reproduction, Warner said he may purchase it himself and place it in his shop as a reminder.

"We hope that by putting the $15 million superstructure of that bridge into out 1976 plan, it will build a fire under Ohio," Carroll said.

"We want the bridge built. We will proceed on the assumption that Ohio will have its delays out of the way by next January."

U.S. Rep. Willis D. Gradison Jr., R-Ohio, charged recently that failure to complete "either the western or eastern arc of Interstate 275 has the markings of a major scandal."

The partially-completed interstate highway circles Cincinnati. The eastern bridge would connect the eastern edge of Cincinnati with Fort Thomas, Ky. The western section proposes a bridge near Aurora, Ind., to Kentucky.

"If we had had either one completed," said Gradison, "we would have cut air pollution (in downtown Cincinnati) enough to have avoided the auto emissions testing that was required by the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency for Hamilton County."

The Ohio Highway Department expects to complete the impact study within six weeks. An Ohio Department of Transportation review is expected to take several more months, officials said.

The study must also be reviewed by the U.S. Department of Transportation before contracts can be let.

New York is named for the Duke of York and Albany, who received a patent to New Netherland from his brother Charles II and sent an expedition to capture it in 1664.

Importance of Ohio agriculture stressed at Rotary Club meet

The importance of agriculture in Ohio was stressed during the regular weekly luncheon meeting of the Washington C.H. Rotary Club Tuesday in the Country Club.

Harold Martin, director of public relations for Landmark, Inc., Columbus, told Rotarians that although Ohio ranks 35th in the nation in size, the state is 21st in the nation in the amount of farm acreage and 11th in its cropland harvest.

GROSS SALES of farm products in Ohio totals $2.25 billion per year, Martin pointed out.

However, he said there are fewer farms each year in Ohio since many farmers are relocating in urban areas coupled with the fact that the size of farms is increasing. He said in 1970 there were 111,000 farms in Ohio, while this year there are 92,000. It is estimated by 1980 there will be only 79,000 farms in the state.

Over 370,000 persons reside on farms in Ohio and that figure represents three and a half per cent of the state's total population, Martin said. The average size of a farm in Ohio is 175 acres and the average investment per farm in the state is at least $80,000.

In speaking of agricultural products, Martin said Ohio produces more tomatoes than any other state in the nation. Besides having more tomato acreage under glass (in greenhouses) than any other state, Ohio also ranks third in the production of grapes. Interestingly, Ohio processes more Chinese food than any other state.

"Today's farmers must be aware of the rapid changes in agriculture," Martin added. He cited three factors which have surfaced in last few years causing the major changes. They were a return to reliance on the free market system, the growing public awareness of the importance of agriculture and emergence of a global trading system.

Martin also pointed out the emphasis which has been placed on environmental controls in recent years. He cited a Landmark fertilizer plant which created dust in production. The company spent approximately $400,000 for equipment to remove the dust from the production process.

"Farmers are alert and ready to meet these changes," Martin said. "The American farmer is as good or better than any in the world. His productive capacity is unmatched," he concluded.

DURING THE meeting, conducted by club president Paul Crosby, special accolades were bestowed upon Bill Williams, who served as general chairman of the Rotary-Ann party held recently in the Mahan Building on the Fayette County Fairgrounds. Tuesday's program was arranged by James Wright.

Visiting Rotarian were Darrell French, Wilmington, Robert Montenegro, Mount Sterling, Jack Boyer, Piqua, and Larry Variable, Circleville. Robert Slight, Mount Sterling, was a guest with Montenegro.

Guests were Bill Wilson and Vernon Russell with Clarence Cooper, and Salvador Lozano, the Rotary Club's foreign exchange student from Mexico, with Robert Simpson. Student guests were Bill Mayer of Miami Trace High School, and Rory Souther of Washington Senior High School.

Dying woman holds adoption interviews

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Linda Hardy, a terminal cancer patient whose last wish is to find a good home for her three children, was interviewing candidates from her hospital bed Tuesday.

"I'm not looking for much," 32-year-old Mrs. Hardy said. "I definitely want a Catholic family, someone living who would keep the kids together, but I don't care whether they're rich or not."

Mrs. Hardy, who was confined Saturday for an operation this week, said her choice will rest on "what I feel in my heart and what I feel is best for my children."

But the children — Sheri, 12, Joey, 10, and Amber, 6 — will get the final say-so, she added.

Mrs. Hardy said her husband deserted the family five years ago and she hasn't heard from him since.

She has supported the family on $209 a month in welfare payments and money she occasionally receives from her father, a 57-year-old truck driver.

Mrs. Hardy learned she had cancer two years ago when she discovered a lump in her breast. She has undergone several operations since then.

William Bradway, her doctor, said he anticipated operating again Thursday.

"With breast cancer you can buy time," he said. "Hopefully, we can buy her a few more months with operations, then we'll go to drugs to keep her alive a while longer."

Mrs. Hardy said she filed for a divorce about a week ago to gain custody of the children so she can assign a guardian for them.

"I have about five weeks to go until the divorce is final," she said. "I hope I can last that long and everything can be taken care of."

Meanwhile, Mrs. Hardy said, she has named her brother, an Air Force staff sergeant in Wichita, Kan., as guardian in her will.

She said her brother has three children of his own, one of whom has cerebral palsy.

Bills help consumers

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Two bills expanding consumer protection laws to home sales and to such businesses as health spas and dancing schools have been introduced in the Ohio General Assembly.

The bills, drafted by Atty. Gen. William J. Brown were introduced by Sen. David L. Headley, D-28 Barborton. One would outlaw lifetime contracts by health spas, dancing schools, judo and karate schools and dating services, allow the consumer to cancel contracts within 10 days and require services to be provided within 180 days.

The other bill would bring real estate transactions under the Ohio Consumer Sales Practices Act and would require a merchant to be able to prove his advertising claims.

The bill also would impose a $1,000 first-offense fine for violation and allow courts to award attorneys' fees to citizens who win their lawsuits under the act.

Six contestants vie for $300,000

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — The Ohio Lottery Commission says six contestants hold numbers for the $390,000 Buckeye 300 drawing which will be televised over a state network Thursday night.

The commission said Tuesday the prize list would include a $300,000 top prize and a $30,000 second prize, with the other four contestants receiving $15,000 minimum prizes.

With only six participants, no $60,000 is being offered, the commission said.

The contestants, all Ohioans, were listed as Floyd King Jr., Columbus; Roman Gramza, Toledo; Barbara Ann Queen, New Holland; Anna Dale Ort, Canfield; Sergio L. Munoz, Wickliffe; and Georgene J. Ruf, Willoughby.

Major crime rises in Cincinnati area

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — A 22 per cent increase in major crime occurred in Cincinnati during the first two months of 1975, but Cincinnati police say it's too early to attribute the increase on the current recession.

The biggest increase was noted in murders and non-negligent manslaughter. Both were up 150 per cent compared with the first two months of 1974.

The only decrease came in auto thefts, where a drop of almost nine per cent was registered.

Gospel meeting slated

John White of Marysville, will be the guest speaker during a three-day gospel meeting Wednesday thru Friday at the Mount Olive Road Church of Christ at 7:30 nightly.

Brother White is a graduate of the Sunset School of Preaching, Luckbock, Texas, and had worked with the local church from January, 1971 until July, 1972, when he was transferred to the Marysville Church of Christ.

He has held gospel meetings in several states, worked with youth camps, spoken at youth rallies and is currently serving as president of the newly-formed Union County drug council in Marysville.

The Rev. Lowell Williams, minister of the church, invites the public to attend the three-day services.

New long-distance rates effective

American Telephone and Telegraph Co. has filed new interstate long distance rate tariffs with the Federal Communications Commission. The rates will mean increased charges for about two-thirds of out-of-state calls and reductions for the other third, and became effective at 12:01 a.m. Sunday.

The commission last week authorized AT&T to file the rates designed to increase its annual revenues by $365 million. It rejected a plan filed Jan. 3 to increase revenues by $717 million and said it would expedite the hearings to examine AT&T's cost of equity and overall rate of return, and to determine if additional rate relief is required.

The new rates feature a one-minute minimum charging period (reduced from three minutes) for customer-dialed calls, and discounts of 35 to 60 per cent for calls dialed during evening and night and weekend periods. These features mean, for example, that a call can be dialed from coast-to-coast for as little as 22 cents.

Richard R. Hough, president of AT&T's long lines department, said, "This repricing will offer our customers greater opportunities to control the cost of their interstate long distance calls, in fact, some will be able to cut their costs and others will be able to moderate the effect of the increases using the one-minute rate and the discounts during evening, night and weekend periods for calls they dial themselves."

In general, there will be increases for daytime three-minute calls, dialed directly by a customer, which cover distances up to 925 miles, for example, New York to Chattanooga or New York to Birmingham. For the same type of calls over 925 miles, there would be a decrease. There would be an increase for most calls requiring the assistance of an operator.

The new rates will also increase charges for most interstate private line services (including audio and Telpak) and interstate wide area telecommunications service (WATS) used mainly by business. Also increased would be charges for calls to Canada and Mexico, effective March 29.

AT&T estimates the rate changes will mean an average residence customer's bill will increase about 38 cents a month, or $4.52 a year, while the average business customer's bill will go up about $3.29 a month, or $39.47 a year. The exact amount of each customer's bill would increase or decrease depending on what interstate calls were made and when they were placed.

The new rate structure includes the basic elements of the plan filed January 3. For customer-dialed calls these include:

—reducing the minimum charging period from three minutes to one minute;

—a 35 per cent discount from the proposed day rate for calls during the evening period (5 to 11 p.m. Sunday through Friday); and —a 60 per cent discount from the proposed day rate during night and weekend time periods (11 p.m. to 8 a.m., every day, all day Saturday, and on Sunday until 5 p.m.).

AT&T noted that since more than one-third of direct dialed interstate calls — almost one billion in 1974 — are two minutes or less, the one-minute rate could produce significant customer savings.

For example, a daytime customer-dialed call from New York to Los Angeles would cost 56 cents for the first minute and $1.36 for three minutes. The present minimum cost is $1.45 for the first three minutes.

For the same call, the cost would be 36 cents for the first minute in the evening and 22 cents for the first minute at night and on weekends.

On calls requiring an operator — credit card, person-to-person, coin and third party — the present minimum charging period of three minutes would be retained. In addition, rates for these calls would be increased and remain the same at all times, reflecting sharply increased labor costs. However, the proposal would extend the 35 and 60 per cent discounts to additional minutes beyond the initial period for all types of calls, including those operator-assisted.

This is only the second time in 22 years that the Bell System has asked for a general increase in interstate rates, Hough said. And he noted that even with the increase rates will be lower than they were in 1953.

AT&T said the changes in interstate WATS would keep the rates in proportion to those for long distance calling.

The filing was in accordance with a recent FCC ruling allowing AT&T to increase annual interstate revenues by $365 million and to raise its rate of return from 8.5 per cent to 8.74 per cent. The Commission said the action took into account AT&T's current capital structure, its increased cost of embedded debt and its 1974 operating results.

Nixon pardon 'unfortunate'

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — Former Sen. Sam Ervin, D-N.C., says it was "unfortunate" that Richard M. Nixon was pardoned and that the former president should come out of seclusion to answer questions about Watergate.

"I would recommend first that he confess that he not only made errors of judgement, but also that he obstructed justice," Ervin told a news conference Tuesday. "His own words recorded on his own tapes show that he was a party to the second phase of the Watergate affair — the coverup operation."

The former senator, who resigned last year, was in Louisville for an address to the Christian Life Commission of the Southern Baptist Convention.

Stans enters guilty plea to violations

WASHINGTON (AP) — Former Commerce Secretary Maurice H. Stans pleaded guilty today to five misdemeanor counts of violating campaign laws while he was chairman of Richard M. Nixon's 1972 re-election finance committee.

He was the third member of Nixon's Cabinet to plead guilty or be convicted of criminal offenses in the post-Watergate era.

Although he pleaded guilty, Stans said his violations of the campaign laws were unintentional.

"In each of these transactions I made a good faith judgment at the time that the Finance Committee was complying with the law, but it now turns out that was not the case," Stans said in a prepared statement outside the courtroom.

Stans could be sentenced to one year in jail and a $1,000 fine on each count but that is considered unlikely. U.S. District Judge John Lewis Smith asked for a presentencing report and did not set a date for sentencing.

Stans said in the statement that he pleaded guilty "after long deliberation and full advice of counsel."

Animal lover succumbs

ELYRIA, Ohio (AP)—Elizabeth Corsetea, a 400-pound 45-year-old who lived in her garage so her dogs and cats could have her house, died today of undetermined cause in an Elyria hospital, Lorain County sheriff's deputies reported.

Officers said concerned neighbors called deputies Tuesday night, who found the woman alive on the floor of the garage in Amherst Township, about five miles west of here. She died a few hours later at the hospital.

Deputies said neighbors told them she moved into the garage last December because her home had become inhabitable. The neighbors said she had 20 dogs and 10 cats in the house and never permitted them outside. The garage had no electricity, heat or running water.

TV Viewing

By JAY SHARBUTT
AP Television Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — The issue of live TV and radio broadcasts of House and Senate floor debates is knocking about in Congress again, after an initial Senate proposal died in the last days of the 93rd Congress.

On this go-around, Rep. Jack Brooks, D-Texas, and Sen. Lee Metcalf, D-Mont., each have introduced resolutions their offices say would:

—Provide a closed-circuit test of broadcasting floor debate for a period of up to six months, the coverage piped to certain members of the House and Senate.

—Allow commercial and public broadcasters, after approved by both houses, to plug into the circuit after the test period, and air live or taped broadcast of the proceedings.

Brooks and Metcalf are the chairman and vice chairman, respectively, of the Joint Committee on Congressional Operations, which last October recommended that live broadcast coverage of the Congress' floor proceedings be allowed on a one-year trial basis this year.

The proposal was given impetus by the nationally-televised Senate Watergate hearings in 1973 and the House Judiciary Committee's impeachment hearings last year.

But the House hasn't allowed live broadcasts of its regular floor sessions since 1947, when it permitted TV coverage for the opening session of the 80th Congress.

The Senate relented only last December, and then only for the swearing-in of Vice-President Nelson A. Rockefeller.

Although the joint committee report recommends that the Congress consider "inviting" the Public Broadcasting Service to submit proposals for operating the congressional TV system, committee officials say the Metcalf-Brooks resolutions don't urge such an invitation.

The measures instead leave operation of the system, as well as coverage ground rules, to be decided by the House and Senate organizations concerned with the matter, the officials say.

In the Senate's case, the decision-maker would be the Rules Committee. On the House side, it would be the newly-formed House Commission on information and facilities.

Rebates reflected in sales report?

Area residents were apparently spurred by the cash rebates offered by automobile manufacturers during February.

According to the record of new auto titles registered in Fayette County during the month, there were 79 new cars purchased. The report was released Tuesday by Catherine L. Hyer, Fayette County clerk of courts.

Sold were 25 Fords; 15 Chevrolets; seven Dodges; five Plymouths, Mercurys and Pontiacs; three Oldsmobiles, Volkswagens and Matadors; two Chryslers, Cadillacs and Lincoln

Continentials, and one Buick and one Hornet.

Twenty-two new trucks were sold. Sales included eight Fords; seven Chevrolets; five GMCs, one Dodge and one Datsun.

A total of 789 certificates of title were issued, including 282 with liens. There were 270 liens canceled.

Eastern cage stars selected

By GEORGE STRODE
AP Sports Writer
COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Dave Heck, Rich Babcock and Neal Luedy are the Ohio Eastern District's outstanding high school basketball players of 1974-75.

The trio was selected by a district panel of sports writers and broadcasters, solely on their regular season performances.

Heck, the Eastern Class AAA Player of the Year, averaged 19 points this season for New Philadelphia. The 6-foot-5 senior has paced the Quakers in scoring the last two seasons.

Babcock, a 6-foot senior scoring machine from Ridgewood, claimed the area Class AA Player of the Year honors for averaging 32 points per game.

Luedy earned the area Class A No. 1 player title. The 6-foot senior from Shadyside carried a 22-point scoring mark during the season.

Zanesville's Dick Taylor and Chuck Watt of Steubenville shared the Eastern Class AAA Coach of the Year

crown. Taylor was 17-1 at No. 8 Zanesville, the Central Ohio League titleholder. Watt's team was 14-4 even though he returned no lettermen from last year.

Walt Harrop of No. 6 ranked Warsaw River View (17-1) was the Eastern Class AA Coach of the Year while Art Mullet of Berlin Hiland picked up the No. 1 coaching honor in Class A.

Mullet coached a 14-6 team this season after going 4-17 in 1973-74.

Greenfield faces another tall team

Coach Sam Snyder's Greenfield McClain Tigers will have their hands full Friday night at Athens in the first game of the class AA regional.

The Tigers will face another tall team, Marion River Valley, in an attempt to gain a regional finals spot on Saturday night. The River Valley Vikings' five starters average 6-foot-3 that's the same height as Greenfield's tallest man, forward Steve Willett, but Coach Snyder said River Valley was no taller than victim Wheelersburg. The Tigers edged Wheelersburg by one point last Saturday in the district finals at Rio Grande College.

The River Valley Vikings sport an impressive 20-2 season record and Coach Richard Fletcher has been starting Charles Clum, a 6-foot-5 forward, who was an honorable mention all-Ohio selection last year and a member of the class AA all-district squad this season.

Center Robin Yeoman, 6-foot-5, and forward Mark Betts, 6-foot-3, round out the Vikings front line. Six-foot-two Steve Comstock and 5-foot-10 Richard Hunt are expected to open in the guard positions.

Coach Snyder said his Tigers would do nothing special against River Valley. The Tigers will go with their usually effective man-to-man defense, Snyder said.

Snyder feels the Vikings are similar to Wheelersburg in many ways and the most noticeable is the height advantage and a tendency to fast break. Snyder said his team will have to blockout on the boards and get their share of rebounds to beat the Vikings.

Snyder will start playmaker Joe Stewart and Sharpshooter Bill Flynn at guards and big Steve Harvey at center along with Gary Barr and Steve Willett on the wings.

Game time is set for 9:30 p.m. Friday with the winner entering the finals Saturday in Athens against the victor of the Coshocton-River View game.

Pete Rose always sought new fans

TAMPA, Fla. (AP)—Whether its the hallowed "Rose" garden of Riverfront Stadium or the winter leagues of Latin American countries, Pete Rose thrives on winning new fans.

Ask Domasco Blanco, a Venezuelan who watched it happen in his home country.

He was a teammate of Rose's in the early 1960s when the Cincinnati Reds sent the crewcut, wisecracking kid to winter ball in Venezuela for more seasoning.

Right away, Rose had a strike against him when the club requested he be played at second base, bumping local hero Cesar Tovar from the lineup.

"The people didn't like the idea of developing second basemen in Cincinnati by moving one of their countrymen out to the outfield," recalled Blanco, then with the San Francisco Giants organization.

Rose was oblivious to the hostility produced by the move. He was also unaware of how South American crowds display their unhappiness.

It didn't take long to find out.

In his Venezuelan debut, he made five errors.

Expecting boos and catcalls, he heard something else.

"The people were whistling and clapping," Rose recalled. "I couldn't figure out why they'd be cheering me with the day I was having."

That's when Blanco clued him in. In Latin America, like Europe, whistles and clapping signify dissatisfaction. "I didn't know that," said Rose, a three-time National League batting champion. "I couldn't read those Spanish newspapers."

Blanco, now a broadcaster of major league games for South American stations, said it didn't take Rose long to make converts.

"I couldn't believe it. Most Americans come down and don't put out," said Blanco. "But not Rose. He was unbelievable."

Ohio places five on prep 100 team

Coach & Athlete magazine has announced the prep top 100 all-American football squad for 1974-75.

High school coaches, sportswriters and college recruiters nominate outstanding prep players from across the country for all-American honors. The Coach & Athlete Board of Selection Committee picks high school seniors for the annual all-American team.

California led the 50 states with seven selections on the top 100. Texas and Illinois place six each, and Ohio, Pennsylvania and Oklahoma followed with five all-Americans.

Five players from Miami Trace High School were nominated for the top 100: Phil Skinner, Jeff Sagar, Tom Reisinger, Ed Mossbarger and Tom Riley. Larry Dumford from Washington Senior High School also received a nomination. All six were passed up for the top 100 selections.

The five Ohio selections for the top 100 team were led by Jay Case of Cincinnati Moeller. Case, who made the first eleven team, is a 6-foot-4 225-pound, defensive end.

Other Ohio prep players named were: Jim Browner, 6-foot-3, 205-pound, receiver from Warren Western Reserve; Tom Cousineau, 6-foot-2, 220-pound, linebacker from Cleveland St. Edwards; Mark Schmerge, 6-foot-4, 225-pound, tight-end from Cincinnati St. Xavier and John Ziegler, 6-foot-1, 185-pound, running back from Warren Harding.

Ohio ignores fishing talks

By JIM DAUBEL
Written for Associated Press

If fishing your favorite bass water produces mixed results from year to year, don't despair. The problem may be with the fish, not your angling skills.

That was one of the major implications of scientific studies presented recently at the National Bass Symposium in Tulsa, Okla.

The two-day conference of fisheries experts was the most comprehensive ever held on bass and bass angling.

Not too incidentally, Ohio was the only one of the 48 mainland states whose wildlife agencies did not send an official representative.

The refusal of Ohio's State Controlling Board to allocate symposium expenses was criticized by Dick Kotis, president of the Fred Arbogast Co. of Akron, one of the world's largest manufacturers of fishing lures.

Kotis said the one Ohio Wildlife Division employee who did attend went on his own time and at the expense of private bass clubs.

Among findings reported at the conference were those of two biologists who observed "extreme year-to-year fluctuations in numbers and pounds of largemouth bass" in two southern impoundments they studied.

High spring water levels in Arkansas' Bull Shoals and Beaver lakes improved nesting success by increasing fish access to protective shoreline cover during the critical spawning periods, they said.

Kotis, who attended the symposium, also noted the studies of Dr. Alfred Eipper of the New York Cooperative Fishery Research Unit. He presented strong evidence that high winds and low temperatures were factors most likely to cause high mortality of bass eggs and fry. This would contribute to the annual fluctuations in bass populations.

Predation, including sport fishing, also has a significant impact on bass numbers, particularly in small lakes and streams, four of 57 scientific papers said.

One Missouri study showed that a 12-inch size limit on bass increased the overall catch rate in a 240-acre lake.

Length restrictions on bass and cath-and-release regulations also improved fishing on a Missouri stream studied in a smallmouth bass research project.

Dr. Richard O. Anderson, also of Missouri, reported the quality of bass fishing can be doubled in heavily-used lakes by limiting the annual largemouth harvest to half the adult bass population.

Ohio is among 34 states that have no minimum size limits on largemouth bass.

Kentucky State still atop ratings

By The Associated Press
Kentucky State remained atop The Associated Press college division poll, released today, for the fourth straight week on the strength of a 73-62 victory over Pikeville in the National Association of Intercollegiate Athletics playoffs.

Coach Mitchell's Thorobreds, 26-2, were awarded 12 first-place votes and 236 points after their victory in the NAIA District 25 championships.

Old Dominion, 22-6, vaulted from sixth to second place in the rankings, collecting four first-place votes and 162 points from the voting board. The Monarchs defeated Baltimore 95-72 and Randolph-Macon 83-76 to capture the National Collegiate Athletic Association Division II South Atlantic Region championships.

The Gardner-Webb Bulldogs, 23-3 for the season, moved up a notch from last week to third with one first-place vote and 93 points, and Jackson State fell from second to fourth place with 90 points after bowing to Alcorn 89-84 in the finals of the NAIA District 30 championships.

Gannon, 25-3, advanced from eighth to fifth place among the select group, attracting one first-place ballot and 87 points after trouncing C.W. Post 67-60 in the final round of the NCAA Division II East Region championships.

New Orleans, 21-6, climbed from ninth to sixth with one first-place vote and 72 points. St. Mary's, Tex., 24-5, was steady in seventh place with 65 points, and Bentley plunged from third to eighth place.

Rounding out the top 10 were Randolph-Macon, 27-3, and newcomer Akron, 20-8. North Dakota was 11th, followed by newcomer Assumption; Marymount, Kan.; Norfolk State, and Tennessee State.

WITH Bearcat III

Covers any one or two bands—low, high, UHF

Bearcat III may well prove to be the only monitor receiver you'll ever need. This versatile receiver scans up to eight fixed frequencies in any one or two FM public safety/business bands—locks on and listens to an active channel—then continues searching when the transmission ends. Channel switches let you select frequencies of current interest and eliminate unnecessary scanning of inactive channels. Exclusive features include: complete band coverage without the usual frequency spread limits; quartz crystal IF filters, solid state Light Emitting Diode channel indicators, built-in forward-facing 3" x 5" speaker. Interchangeable RF modules prevent future obsolescence. Ideal for home, office, or mobile use in any locality.

$139.95 with RF module to cover any one band
$159.95 with RF modules to cover any two bands
Plus crystals at $5 each. Additional RF modules $20 each

Little all-America cage team named

NEW YORK (AP) — Marvin Webster, Morgan State's feared "Human Eraser", and Eugene Short, the high-powered forward from Jackson State, were among those named today to the Associated Press' 1975 Little All-America basketball team.

Joining the talented giants on the AP's glamour team are forward Gerald Cunningham of Kentucky State; guard Lloyd Free of Guilford and guard Ike Williams of Armstrong State.

Webster, a 6-foot-11 senior called "a near-pro franchise" by one scout, and Short, a 6-7 junior termed the best forward ever to play at Jackson State, are repeaters from last year's first team. In addition, Webster was a second team All-America two years ago.

Free, a 6-2 junior, was a second-team All-America last year. Cunningham, a 6-7 sophomore, and Williams, a 6-4 senior, are in the blue ribbon group for the first time.

Webster was the heart and soul of Morgan State's team for the third straight year, although falling off from previous seasons because of a hepatitis attack.

Certain to go on the first round of the pro draft, Webster averaged 17.4 rebounds and 16.4 points a game this season. Webster owes his colorful nickname to awesome shot-blocking talents. This ability has classified him as the top center in the country by pro scouts.

Short, one of the nation's most fluid big men, averaged more than 26 points and over 9 rebounds a game.

The lanky Cunningham, a 200-pounder with grace, led his team into the NAIA playoffs and his coach, Lucius Mitchell, calls him "the best player in the country this year, barring none." The muscular forward scored nearly 25 points and averaged more than 13 rebounds a game for Kentucky State.

He hit on 71 per cent of his field goals, a figure that led the nation, and managed 95 steals during the course of 25 games. Cunningham was drafted last year as a freshman by an American Basketball Association team and will be on the "Wanted List" again this season.

Free has been termed one of the 10 best players in the country, including both small and major colleges.

"If there's a better guard in the nation, I haven't seen him," says his coach, Jack Jensen. "Free is a great guard."

Free, an inspirational leader at Guilford, averaged 25.4 points a game while connecting on 51 per cent of his shots from the field. In addition, the blue chip guard averaged nearly 6 rebounds a game.

Williams was an unexcelled team leader, averaging 21 points, 6 assists, 5 steals and 5 rebounds a game. He's the best player they have ever had at Armstrong State, his coaches say.

The Second Team includes, Major Jones of Albany State; Jim Blanks of Gardner-Webb; Bayard Forrest of Grand Canyon; Brian Hammel of Bentley and Lewis Linder of Kentucky State.

The Third Team: John Grochowalski, Assumption; Gerald Walker, Gannon; Wilson Washington, Old Dominion; Larry Wright, Grambling and Jerome Holland, New Orleans.

NEW YORK (AP) — The 1975 College Division basketball All-America as selected by the Associated Press on the basis of votes from sports writers and broadcasters around the country:

First Team

Eugene Short, 6-7, junior, Jackson State. Gerald Cunningham, 6-7, sophomore, Kentucky State. Marvin Webster, 6-11, senior, Morgan State. Lloyd Free, 6-2, junior, Guilford. Ike Williams, 6-4, senior, Armstrong State (Ga.).

Second Team

Major Jones, 6-9, junior, Albany State. Jim Blanks, 6-4, senior, Gardner-Webb. Bayard Forrest, 6-10, junior, Grand Canyon. Brian Hammel, 6-2, senior, Bentley. Lewis Linder, 6-4, junior, Kentucky State.

Third Team

John Grochowalski, 6-8, senior, Assumption. Gerald Walker, 6-6, senior, Gannon. Wilson Washington, 6-8, sophomore, Old Dominion. Larry Wright, 6-1, sophomore, Grambling. Jerome Holland, 6-2, senior, New Orleans.

Honorable Mention

Bob Grote, Wright State; Bert Platt, C. W. Post; Bob Kaible, Dowling; Fletcher Johnson, Randolph-Macon;

Oliver Purnell, Old Dominion; Greg Carrington, Virginia Union; Doward Tisdol, Virginia State; Donnie Roberts, St. Paul's; Paul Feely, Randolph-Macon; Sherman Dillard, Madison; Ross Robinson, Roanoke; Herb Estes, George Mason; Bill Lindsay, Fairmont State; Tony Hicks, Pacific Lutheran; Sylvester Cuyler, Marymount; Cal Carrington, Massachusetts; Mike Fahey, Brandeis.

Bill Gregory, Springfield; Marvin Jackson, Prairie View; Bobby Bone, Missouri-St. Louis; Andrew Price, Abilene Christian; Bennie Shaw, Florida Tech; Jesse Campbell, Mercyhurst.

Brewers eye league pennant with Aaron back in Milwaukee

SUN CITY, Ariz. (AP) — The elastic in his arm and steel spring in his legs are nearly gone, eroded by his 41 years and the strain of more than 3,000 major league baseball games.

But the Milwaukee Brewers are so confident the bumpy whip remains in Hank Aaron's swing that they have agreed to pay him a reported $200,000 this season. If they are right, they probably have assured box office prosperity and a valid designated hitter for the first time in the club's seven-year history.

Whether Aaron, whose 31 major league records include 733 home runs, can transform the Brewers into contenders in the American League East is questionable. It's unlikely, unless the talent on one of the youngest teams in the majors matures more rapidly than in 1974.

Manager Del Crandall, Aaron's longtime teammate on the old Milwaukee Braves in the 1950s and early 1960s, believes the superstar slugger will help even if he doesn't approach his career .310 batting average or hit 35 homers. "He's the best offensive player I've ever seen," Crandall said. "But the kind of individual he is and always has been is important. If anybody on the club isn't really influenced by Henry, I can't believe he has any feeling at all. It's bound to have an effect on everybody."

Despite the pressure and strain of chasing Babe Ruth's previous record of 714 homers and frequent play in the field for the Atlanta Braves, Aaron hit .268 with 20 homers and 69 runs batted in during 1974. He is confident he can improve all three figures, primarily because the designated hitter role figures to preserve his stamina.

Among last year's Brewers, designated hitters batted a league low .222. Only George Scott (.82) and John

HANK AARON

Briggs (.73) exceeded Aaron's RBI total. They were the only two to approach his home run total, each hitting 17.

Scott and Briggs tailed off to respective .281 and .255 averages, chiefly because lack of punch elsewhere in the lineup allowed opponents to pitch around them. Aaron figures to change that.

Scott, a perennial Gold Glove winner at first base, and Don Money, who hit .283 and set two major league fielding records for third basemen last year, anchor an infield that rivals Baltimore's for fielding excellence.

Shortstop Robin Yount batted .250 as an 18-year-old rookie. His fielding ranged from adequate to brilliant and his potential is considered as unlimited. Pedro Garcia slipped to .200, chiefly because a mid-season shoulder injury impaired his swing, but still hit 12 homers and sparked at second base. Briggs, an able fielder who has averaged 19 homers the last four years, is set in left field. Swift Bob Coluccio probably will open in center, but will have to improve his .223 average and six homers to stay there.

Sixto Lezcano, rated as one of the better outfield prospects in the majors, probably will open in right field. Lezcano, 21, with surprising power for his 165 pounds, batted .325 at Sacramento and impressed in a September trial with the Brewers.

Outfielder Gorman Thomas, back for a third trial, slammed 51 homers for Sacramento, most of them in the home team's undersized park. He also struck out 175 times, but has shown progress in learning the strike zone and controlling his swing.

Darrell Porter slumped from .254 with 16 homers as a rookie in 1973 to .241 and 12 homers, but still heads a highly regarded young catching duo. Charlie Moore, a year younger than Porter at 22, could win the starting job, and Crandall has considered using his speed in the outfield.

Milwaukee pitching has much potential and even more uncertainty. Jim Colborn, a 20-game winner two years ago, fell to 10-13, largely because of chronic knee and groin injuries, and underwent off-season knee surgery.

Ace of the staff could be Billy Champion, who became a starter in mid-season and finished 11-4. Champion had been 17-39 in five previous major league seasons, but has a fine arm and developed three new pitches last year.

Jim Slaton, 13-16 with a strong finish, will be the third starter. Other starters could be Ed Sprague, 7-2 until a July knee injury shelved him nearly all the rest of the year; Kevin Kobel, 6-14 as a rookie, or strong-armed Pete Broberg, 0-4 with Texas and 4-5 at Spokane.

The bullpen is anchored by Tom Murphy, who recorded a 1.90 earned run average and 20 saves, second best in the league last year. He had little help, although Eduardo Rodriguez, 7-4 with a 3.63 ERA, is expected to lend assistance this time.

Deny Perry being sought

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP)—Cleveland Indians General Manager Phil Seghi said Tuesday he knows nothing of reports that the Boston Red Sox are trying to get pitcher Gaylord Perry, and what's more he has no intention of dealing away the Tribe's ace hurler.

The Tribe GM said also that last week's clash between Perry and the club's new field manager, Frank Robinson, was "terribly overplayed and still is being overplayed" by the news media.

"Everybody is implying that I'm sitting on a powder-keg since it happened," said Seghi, "but I'm not."

"Incidents like that happen every spring. They always have and they always will."

The clash has led to speculation that Perry would be traded, but Seghi continued to deny that any such trade is in the works.

over condominiums rather than cottages.

So says banker Raymond E. Cummings, who originated what might be a first, the "Ms. Mortgage." He also has programs "for the bachelor pad" set and others. They can borrow up to 95 per cent of the price of the property.

In fact, Cummings, president of the Burritt Mutual Savings Bank of New Britain, Conn., has found "the unattached female" a superior risk.

"We almost never have a delinquency with an unattached female. She will eat crackers for a week before her next payday rather than jeopardize her home. She has been willing to make sacrifices and dedicate the greater portion of her wages to a house. Women have a natural homing instinct," he insists.

He is "not running down the opposite sex," he says, but "men do think of other things first - their car, beer nights and so on."

Women are better at maintenance of a home, too, although the male is "better now than he was."

"It has become a vogue for unattached males to have a pad of their own, and two or three get together and buy a house. Even though they all buy it, one holds the payment book," he explained.

Noise Pollution Hazards

I work in a noisy factory. I'm worried about my hearing. My boss says there's no need to worry, but I would like to protect myself in some way.

Mr. R.E., Penn.

Dear Mr. E.:

A recent survey of the noise levels in industries and factories showed that more than 50 per cent of the people work in an environment potentially dangerous to their hearing.

The Surgeon General of the United States estimated that five to 15 million workers are exposed to noise that may eventually cause some form of deafness.

Your boss's assurance is not sufficient protection for you. Most "noisy" industries today offer protective devices to prevent hearing loss.

Special types of pre-molded earplugs offer excellent protection against the bombardment of noise. Many other devices such as those used to cup the ears at airports are effective, too.

Hearing can be protected if both the worker and the employer recognize the health hazard of noise pollution.

Before I buy an expensive whirlpool can you tell me if this is good for arthritis?

Mrs. B.R., Tenn.

Dear Mrs. R.:

Hydrotherapy can be very soothing for the muscular and joint pains of arthritis. Hot sprays, water-activated baths and swimming bring more blood to the skin, the joints and the muscles of the body.

Spas all over the world have been using many forms of water therapy with great physical and psychological benefits.

Before you purchase an expensive piece of equipment, arrange to try it for a while in a gym or a health club. You will become the best judge of its value for your condition.

My doctor removes wax from my ears by irrigation. While I was visiting out-of-town, another doctor took the wax out with a pick. Which way is better?

Miss S.L.M., Ore.

Dear Miss M.:

Soft wax can be more easily removed by syringing. When wax is hard and impacted, special blunt instruments are used to remove it. Both methods are safe and effective.

MODERN HOMEMAKERS 4-H

Projects were discussed for this year by the Modern Homemakers 4-H Club at the meeting called to order by Jodie Hatfield. Pledges were led by Barbara Malone and Marilyn Wagner. There was a discussion on money-making projects. It was decided to have a bake sale.

A health report entitled "Exercises for Fun" was made by Brenda Malone, and refreshments were served. The next meeting will be March 18 at 7:30 p.m. with Marilyn and Lisa Wagner. Marilyn Wagner, reporter

BUSY BEES 4-H

The meeting of the Busy Bees 4-H Club took place in First Presbyterian Church, and called to order by Terri Vermillion, vice president. Jenny Martin led the Pledge of Allegiance and the 4-H Pledge. Minutes of the last meeting and roll call was also given by Jenny Martin. Kim Bryant made the treasurer's report, and Lori Holloway gave a safety report on "Don't Get Fired."

A demonstration was given on "How to shorten a pants pattern" by Becky Thacker, Lorraine Moore and Christy Cutlip.

Project books were given out and refreshments served. The meeting was adjourned.

The next meeting will be March 15 at the Sew Sew Shop.

Power siting panel

slates public hearing

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The Ohio Power Siting Commission decided Tuesday to hold public hearings so utilities and citizens have an opportunity to express their views, a spokeswoman said.

Jurisdictional decisions are now made chiefly within the commission without outside input, she said. In other action, commissioners delayed a decision on whether to take part in Federal Power Commission hearings on the Northern Border Pipeline project. The pipeline will carry gas from Canada across the United States and is expected to cross Ohio.

Opening lead - three of hearts.

Part-score hands may lack the dramatic appeal of game or slam hands, but they can be highly instructive nevertheless.

Consider this deal where East wins the heart lead with the king and continues with the ace, West discarding a club. What should East play next?

It may seem automatic for East to return a heart and let his partner ruff, but if he does this, South makes the contract because his only remaining losers are a spade and a club.

The heart return at trick three is not quite as automatic as it seems. As a matter of fact, it's the wrong play. East should anticipate that a heart return is likely to hand South the contract.

He knows that his side needs six tricks, and can see that an immediate heart ruff will lead to only five. He should therefore give thought to other possible means of acquiring a setting trick — and the solution lies in arranging for a club ruff. After cashing the A-K of hearts, East should play the A-8 of clubs.

Declarer cannot combat this attack from a new quarter. As soon as he plays a trump, East takes the ace and gives partner a heart ruff. West returns the compliment by giving East a club ruff. It is the last nail in the coffin, and South goes down one.

It is of course tempting for East to lead a heart at trick three, but when the matter is examined in the cold light of day it becomes obvious that a prompt heart return is not urgent.

East is looking at the ace of spades and knows that West's trumps cannot be drawn before the ace of trumps is dislodged. The heart ruff can therefore wait until East has prepared the ground for a club ruff later on.

Local youth treated for mishap injuries

A five-year-old Washington C.H. boy was struck by a car Tuesday afternoon, city police reported, along with two other traffic mishaps. The Fayette County Sheriff's Department had their share of accidents to investigate also: they reported five, two of which involved personal injury.

POLICE
TUESDAY, 12:41 p.m. — Scott E. McNeal, 5, of 527 Harrison St., was struck by a car driven by Marjorie J. Crabtree, 42, Greenfield, when he darted across the intersection of High and Elm streets, in front of the Crabtree auto.

Police reported the youth was taken to Fayette Memorial Hospital by ambulance, where he was x-rayed and later released. No citations were issued.

4:08 p.m. — A car driven by Gary D. Starling, 31, Columbus, struck the rear of a semi-truck driven by Everett R. Palmeter, 31, Apison, Tenn., at the intersection of S. Elm Street and Washington Avenue. Damage to the Starling auto was estimated as severe and police cited Starling for failure to maintain an assured clear distance ahead.

8:16 a.m. — A school bus driven by Roy I. Shipley, 51, of 1041 Broadway St., pulled too close to an auto owned by Carl R. Anders, Sabina, while attempting to park on E. Temple Street, near the North Street intersection, and side-swiped the parked Anders auto. Police stated the bus had children on it, but no one was injured.

SHERIFF
WEDNESDAY, 6:20 a.m. — A car driven by Evelyn L. Howe, 28, Bloomingburg, went out of control after running through water across Danville Road, one and three-tenths of a mile north of the Meyers Road intersection, spun around and struck an embankment. Damage was slight and Ms. Howe was reportedly unhurt.

TUESDAY, 7:20 p.m. — A car driven by Ronald L. Tyree, 43, of 519 Flint Dr., was severely damaged when Tyree failed to negotiate a left curve while traveling north on Prairie Road, 200 feet north of the Hays Road intersection, struck 10 rods of fence belonging to Robert Hays of Prairie Road, and then traveled back across the road and through the fence on the other side of the road. Tyree was cited by sheriff's deputies for driving while intoxicated. He was uninjured.

8 p.m. — A car driven by Donna L. Hines, 16, of 1106 Vine St., struck a truck owned by James H. Perrill, Parrott Station Road, parked on Maple Street in Jeffersonville, one-tenth mile north of the State Street intersection. Ms. Hines and her passenger, Linda J. Mongold, 15, of Greenfield, were both treated for possible neck injuries at Fayette Memorial Hospital and then released. Damage was moderate to both vehicles and no citations were issued.

9:15 p.m. — A car driven by Douglas N. Woods, 25, of 1028 Broadway St., failed to negotiate a right curve on Creek Road and ran off the road into several small trees. One of Woods' passengers, Robert P. Gordon, 23, of 1117 Gregg St., showed visible signs of injury at the scene and was treated for abrasions of the forehead and nose at Fayette Memorial Hospital. Woods' other passenger, Carol F. Woods, 24, of 1028 Broadway, claimed injury and was treated at the hospital for a left thumb injury and released. Woods, who was unhurt, was cited for reckless operation. His car was moderately damaged.

SATURDAY, 10:45 a.m. — A car driven by Robert J. Carroll, 35, of Leesburg, failed to negotiate a left curve on U.S. 62 struck a county marker and then ran into the ditch. Carroll told sheriff's deputies he had traveled off the roadside to keep from hitting an oncoming car, which was passing a truck. He was unhurt.

Gulf signs agreement on charges

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Gulf Oil Corp. says it has signed an agreement to settle charges that it made $10.3 million in illegal corporate donations to political campaigns during a 13-year period.

Gulf said Monday the agreement filed in federal court in Washington, gives the corporation's consent to an order prohibiting it from making illegal political contributions.

Gulf said the order also bars it from giving "false or misleading" reports to the Securities and Exchange Commission.

Gulf, headquartered here, stressed that it was neither admitting nor denying specific allegations made by the SEC in seeking the court order.

"The company's ongoing investigation has determined that certain corporate funds had been made available for contributions, gifts, entertainment or other expenses related to political activity since 1960," Gulf said in a press release.

"This investigation indicates that during the period 1960 through 1973 approximately $10.3 million of corporate funds were used in the United States and abroad for such purposes, some of which may be considered unlawful," it added.

Arrests

POLICE
TUESDAY — Clarence Downing Jr., 46, Sedalia, private warrant for assault.

PATROL
For speeding:
TUESDAY — Stephen A. Vasil, 32, Euclid; Robert W. Case, 51, Sabina; Clifford Bacon, 26, Cleveland.
SATURDAY — Stephen A. Smith, 17, Jeffersonville.

George Murphy eyes media power

SAN DIEGO (AP) — Former Sen. George Murphy says the news media is the leading power wielder in Washington.

"They made one president retire and another one resign," the former actor told a group of Republican women.

Murphy, who lost a bid for a second Senate term as a Republican from California in 1970, added, "Second in power are the labor unions."

Airlift ignores Red shelling

PHNOM PENH, Cambodia (AP) — Heavy shelling of the Phnom Penh airport continued today, but the American airlift of supplies to the besieged Cambodian capital resumed after a brief curtailment.

Hard fighting was reported seven miles northwest of Phnom Penh, along with heavy mortar attacks on the Neak Luong naval base and the town of Baban, 32 miles southeast of the capital. But no progress was reported by the forces northwest of Phnom Penh, who are trying to push back the Khmer Rouge forces shelling the airport.

In Phnom Penh, President Lon Nol swore in a new commander for the armed forces, Gen. Sak Su Sakhan, and Premier Long Boret began discussing the makeup of a new cabinet with various political factions. There was speculation that the shakeup would end with the resignation of Lon Nol himself.

The Cambodian military command said 14 rockets and shells struck the airfield during the night, causing no damage or casualties, and another 15 rounds were reported during the morning. But the U.S. airlift of rice from Saigon resumed shortly after dawn.

The rice flights, in chartered DC8s, were suspended several hours earlier than usual Tuesday because of heavy shelling although none of the American planes was hit. U.S. officials said C130s from Thailand continued flying in ammunition and fuel, but the day's delivery of rice was reduced 15 per cent.

The U.S. Embassy said there were 40 airlift flights Tuesday, compared with a recent daily average of 45.

White House Press Secretary Ron Nessen said in Washington that some of the approximately 400 Americans in Phnom Penh had begun leaving after Ambassador John Gunther Dean suggested that "nonessential people," particularly wives and children, be evacuated.

Nessen added that "very few" Americans were involved.

Also in Washington, the Democratic Caucus of the House of Representatives scheduled a vote today on a resolution opposing further U.S. military aid to South Vietnam or Cambodia. The vote is expected to provide the first real indication of whether the House will approve or reject President Ford's request for $222 million in additional military aid for Cambodia.

Gen. Sakhan replaced Gen. Sosthene Fernandez, who was fired Monday because of the armed forces' poor performance since the Khmer Rouge dry-season offensive started on New Year's Day.

Long Boret also resigned Tuesday, but Lon Nol renamed him to form a new cabinet with expanded powers over the military. A government decree abolished the position of commander-in-chief of the armed forces and named the premier acting defense minister.

Gen. Sakhan was once minister of defense when Prince Norodom Sihanouk was chief of state and in recent years has been a roving ambassador. He was worked closely with Long Boret in the defense of the Phnom Penh's seat at the United Nations.
